ARRESTED FOR NON-SUPPORT

The Rev. S. M. Hawthorne Taken
From Rush County Home on Bench Warrant.

SHUCKED CORN FOR LIVING

Former Gwynneville Pastor, Who Figured in Sensational Episode Recently, Wanted in Kokomo.

The Rev. S. M. Hawthorne, formerly pastor of the Gwynneville Christian church who figured in the sensational escapade at Gwynneville two years ago last summer when he fled before charges of his wife that he was too intimate with women of his congregation, was arrested yesterday on a bench warrant from the Howard county circuit court at the home of David Wicker, west of Arlington, in Rush county, and taken to Kokomo to answer to the charge of failure to support his wife and children.

The Rev. Mr. Hawthorne was sick
in bed when the sheriff of Shelby county, to whom the bench warrant was sent, called at the Wicker home,
but he was able to go with the sheriff.
The Rev. Mr. Hawthorne made no objection to having the papers served on him although the Shelby county sheriff had no authority to do so in Rush county.

Because of reverses, the Rev. Mr.
Hawthorne was compelled to resort to manual labor in the fields to make his bread and butter. He has been shucking corn for Mr. Wicker. It is said that he has been reduced to such circumstances several times within the last year or so. He is a very brilliant pastor and still has many staunch friends in the western part of this county and the eastern part of Shelby.

Trouble began in earnest for him
two years ago last summer when his wife became jealous of him on account of his relations toward women of his congregation. Mr. Hawthorne insisted that the visits he paid the members of his congregation were for the purpose of increasing the effectiveness of the work of the church and that there was nothing wrong in the relations of him and any of the members of his flock.

But Mrs. Hawthorne refused to believe that his associations with some of the women were for any other than immoral purposes and the quarrel between them became so warm that Mr. Hawthorne finally fled from Gwynneville. Subsequently he returned to his wife and two children and the family then left Gwynneville notwithstanding.

Mr. Hawthorne was assured by nearly all of the members of his congregation that he might continue in charge of the pulpit. There were very few people in Gwynneville who lost faith in the man. He was expecting to preach from the pulpit of the church at that place this evening.

The story of his troubles from the time he left Gwynneville to his reappearance there a few days ago is a long one. Time and again he has tried to live with his wife and support his children, but all reports regarding the troubles of the couple indicate that his wife has made life a continual torture for him.

Several times, according to stories of their disagreements, he has left home and gone to other fields in the hope of continuing his work in the

DUCK HUNTING NO GOOD

Nimrods Say Rabbits Will be Plentiful All Winter.

Local hunters say there has been too much dry weather this fall to make duck and geese shooting any good in this particular locality.
Geese and ducks have been flying over nearly every day, but because there is no water in the fields they do not stop here. Nimrods say that the rabbits will be plentiful this winter though they can not be tracked very easily now. Other game, as a rule, is scarce, hunters say.

15-YEAR-OLD GIRL SENT TO CLERMONT

Margaret Dunwoody is Sentenced to Indiana Girls School in Juvenile Court Today.

SHE HAS BEEN OUT ON PAROLE

Margaret Dunwoody, age fifteen years, who has been a ward of the juvenile court since a recent investigation of the court into the life of a number of boys and girls in Rushville, was sent to the Indiana School for Girls at Clermont today by Judge John A. Tinsworth acting as juvenile judge.

The Dunwoody girl was allowed to go on parole recently on the theory
that she might live a different life.
She and Harry Galliger were arrested by the police Monday night and Galliger was fined for association.

She was taken into court this morning, and it is reported that she broke down and told something of the sordid life she has lived although she is but a whisp of a girl. She was not sent to Clermont with the Weevie girl a few weeks ago on the advice of the prosecutor.

CIRCUIT COURT TO BE DARK SATURDAY

Only One Case is Disposed of Today
And That One is Dismissed.

SEVERAL ARE CONTINUED

The circuit court will be "dark"
tomorrow, Judge Blair left this afternoon for Shelbyville and will not return until Monday. Two cases were set for tomorrow—Bennett against Dagler and Weaver against the board of commissioners—but it is understood that they were not ready for trial.

The case of Jessie Hart Woodfill against Grover C. Louisa and Casper Jones to set aside a mortgage as fraudulent was dismissed by the plaintiff today and the costs paid.

The court rendered judgment for William Dagler against Joe Christ-man on the verdict of the jury for $154.80. The Greeley-Hooten case, which has been set for trial a number of times, has been postponed again until December 9. The note suit of C. T. Williams against Alma and Charles Wilson for $1,500 has been continued on the defendants' motion.

TO CHANGE TIME ON LOCAL BRANCH

Rumor Has It That L. E. & W. Railroad Proposes to Better Train
Service on Rushville Division.

AGENT RECEIVES NO NOTICE

Plan is to Reverse Present Run of
"Cannon Ball"—Mail and Passenger Service Deplorable.

Rumors that the L. E. & W., railway was planning to change the time of train service on the local division
have been heard here for some time but as yet no official notice has been received by the agent. John Rutledge, the local agent, has heard of the proposed change but has not received any notice.

The present train service is very unsatisfactory especially to the people of the northern part of the county. The Newcastle Times in speaking of the proposed change in time
says:

The dissatisfaction with the service on the Newcastle-Rushville division, does not decrease, but if any difference, is more acute. Especially between Dunreith and Rushville, where there is no traction service, the people living along the line of the railroad have little chance for getting away from home and back again the same day. This they might endure if they could get their mails with any certainty or regularity, but it requires two or three days to get a letter from Newcastle of Rushville to a patron on the rural route out of Mays.

Ever since the double daily service
was discontinued, several years ago, there has been much complaint, and very justly, it seems. Now that the company is requiring the engine and crew of the one train to do the switching and yard work at both Newcastle and Rushville, there is even greater delay and irregularity in the passenger and mail service than ever before. It is understood that the people along the line, and some in Rushville, have made up their minds to take legal action, having failed to accomplish anything through their appeals to the State Railway Commission.

There is a sort of a round-house
rumor that when the change of time is made it will be found that the "Rushville Limited" run is reversed,
and that the engine and crew will lay over at Rushville instead of Newcastle, as at present. Should this be done it would at least give vastly improved mail service to the towns
along the line, provided the train leaves Rushville about 6:30 o'clock in the morning. It would also aid in the dispatch of yard work and switching in Newcastle, as the factories need this work done in the forenoon, in most cases.

Most of the townships along the line of this road voted liberal subsidies toward the original construction of the line, but the present generation does not feel that it is getting very much in return for what was paid more than thirty years ago.

Mrs. Mary Demmer is recovering from a very serious attack of acute indigestion.

In some of the towns of Hungary

twenty dollars per annum.

FAKE METHODS WERE USED HERE

Magazine Solicitors, in bad at Con-
nersville, Worked Same Graft
in This City.

ASKED AID FOR EDUCATION

Claimed Kin to Local People and
Were Obtaining Money to go to College.

Several days ago two young men
"worked" this city obtaining subscriptions for magazines. The same two young men came to grief in Con-nersville yesterday when they were arrested and fined for provoke. The men passed under the names of M.
Green and Alfred Tobias and will be remembered by many women here because in their eagerness to secure subscriptions, claimed relationship,
with prominent Rushville people.

In one or two instances it is known that they claimed to be graduates from the local high school and were striving by the sale of the magazines to secure money on which to make their way through college. The fake plea hardly ever failed to work and while the magazines may be worth all that was paid, the manner of obtaining the money was not quite legiti-mate.

In Connersville the two solicitors
were very insistent with their prospective customers and became so abusive in their demands that one woman filed an affidavit charging provoke. The two paid their fines and left for Liberty.

There has been, during the last few months, a considerable lot of began canvassing for magazine subscriptions here. Young fellows who visit homes with a show of energy,
have explained that they were poor
boys, working their way to education.
Tobias, while here stated in trying to obtain subscriptions that he desired to attend medical college. The good heartedness of many women, having been appealed to resulted in subscribing to magazines, which they did not really want, and which, as it happened in numerous cases, they did not get. One instance is known, in which a woman subscribed for three magazines and has not yet received a single issue of any of them.

DIES ON LOAD OF FODDER

Needham Hawk, Age 55, Expires
Suddenly Near Morristown.

Needham Hawk, age 55 years, a well-known Morristown citizen, dropped dead yesterday on a load of fodder. He was helping to shred fodder on the farm of O. O.
Olinger, a mile north of Morristown which adjoins the W. M. Bassett farm on which Mr. Hawk lived. Mr.
Hawk was on a load of fodder and dropped dead without a moment's notice, falling down on the fodder. He suffered an attack of heart trouble previous to this fatal one, but it was thought they were nothing serious.
The deceased leaves a widow and four grown children.

TO COMPETE WITH STEAM

Electric Lines Must Equip For It,
Says President Henry.

That interurbans must get away from the street-railway business and provide equipment on the steam railway basis was the comment of C. L.
Henry, president of the I. & C., at the fall meeting of the Central Electric Railway Association at Columbus, O., yesterday. He believes that roadbeds should be so reconstructed that a greater part of the freight business may be handled by electric lines. Declaring that only about 15 per cent. of gross receipts
come from freight business, he said that 75 to 85 per cent. should come from this source.

WEATHER IDEAL FOR CORN HUSKING

Farmers do not Remember Time
When Conditions Were Better
For Fall Task.

WILL BE NO MOULDY FODDER

Corn is being husked in Rush county in a lively manner. An early start was made in this work by those farmers who realized that the sooner the fodder was stacked close together in the field, or under cover in the barn, the better fodder they will have and the greater benefit their live stock will gain from it. It has been good weather so far for corn husking and the corn has turned out exceedingly well in most cases. A poor corn crop this season is the exception. Last season's mouldy corn fodder will be long remembered.
And now that such fine, bright fodder is being secured, farmers will certainly be careful to see that it is well cared for.

ALL COUNTIES ARE AFFECTED

Marion County Judge Holds Jurors
Are Entitled to Mileage For One Round Trip.

APPLIES TO PETIT AND GRAND

The position of the board of county commissioners at Indianapolis allowing a grand or petit jury member mileage fees for only one trip from his home to the court house, and one trip from the court house to his home, was upheld by Judge Remster of the Marion circuit court. The decision was given in the case filed against the commissioners
by John T. Cotten of Lawrence township, who asked $107.10. Other members of the same grand jury also have filed similar suits. Under the decision of the court the grand jurors or petit jurors will get but a small part of the amount claimed and all counties in the state are affected.

The Knights of Pythias will have work in the third rank next Monday night and a large attendance is desired.

ONLY ONE WAY TO REPAY DEBT

It is to Carry Gospel to Unserved in America, Declares the Rev.

C. M. Yocum.

LAST OF HOME MISSIONS MEETS

Calls on History to Prove Civilization is Result of Christianity
And Not Vica Versa.

It remained for the Rev. C. M. Yocum, pastor of the Main Street
Christian church, to climax the home mission week, which has been observed by the Protestant churches
here with union services, with a sermon last night at the St. Paul M. E.
church on the subject, "Our Country's Debt to Christ," in which he reviewed the achievements of the English-speaking race and showed how the civilization could arise from nothing other than the refining influence of Christianity.

The Rev. Mr. Yocum traced the history of the English-speaking race
from the time the family of Jacob divided, part of it going to India and the other westward to England, and subsequently to the United States,
and recalled how the western division
of the family, which had felt the touch of Christianity, had outstripped the world with its achievements while the other branch had retrograded rather than progressed.

"Not until the sixth century was any effort made to Christianize the English-speaking race," said the minister. "Gregory, while wandering
through the slave market in Rome, saw a flaxen-haired people and asked them their names. They replied they were Angles, but he exclaimed they were angels. He vowed to go to the home of Angles with the story of Christ, but he was made Pope.
However, in 596, six hundred years after the coming of Christ, he sent a band of missionaries to England.
Through the influence of a Christian king and his wife, Christianity spread.

"That was only 1300 years ago,
yet marvelous things have occurred since then. Do you want a miracle to prove the worth of Christianity? In 1300 years a race of people has been raised from naked savagery to the finest civilization ever known.

"Come on across the ocean with me. When America was discovered
all Europe was in the grasp of Rome.
God lead his people to this land that it might be his own peculiar possession. When the Declaration of Independence was signed, the divine blessing of God was invoked; when the first president was inaugurated,
he laid his hand on the book of God."

The Rev. Mr. Yocum pointed out that the English-speaking people
stand pre-eminent above all nations;
that they control one-third of the world's possessions; that they own
most of the diamond and gold mines in the world and that their great armies and navies practically dictate
the politics of the world.

"We have outstripped the world in all things," he continued, "and the most recent inventions of the world are the result of the genius of the English-speaking people. China has retrograded during this period and India of the twentieth century, which is peopled with our first cousins, having the same blood and the same inheritances, is the India of the first

QUICKLY FROM LEAN TO FAT

Interesting Possibilities an Outcome of Recent Experiments.

Despite the abundance of dieticians, amateur and professional, there is still room for a considerable increase of our knowledge regarding assimilation and nutrition. This is well illustrated in some recent experiments by F. G. Hopkins of the Cambridge physiological laboratory in England, the New York Evening Post remarks. Dr. Hopkins found that the addition of comparatively insignificant amounts of certain substances to his rations made all the difference between success and failure. He was feeding rats on a carefully measured and purified ration, upon which they should, theoretically, have thrived. But they refused to grow. However, when he added to the ration 4 per cent of milk they began to climb almost like the famous beanstalk.

The actual food value of the small milk addition could not be considered an explanation. The first and obvious conclusion seems to be that the milk acted as what is called a catalyzer—that is, its mere presence had the power of promoting the absorption and assimilation of other food. It was proved that a small quantity of milk added to the diet reduced the quantity of the latter (used alone) necessary to produce a given increase of weight by 50 per cent.

It appears that other experimenters have obtained somewhat analogous results by the use of extracts of yeast. It is obvious enough that if these experiments mean what they seem to mean, viz., that certain substances within our reach have the remarkable power of greatly increasing the nutritive value of foods, very important results in the sciences of human and animal feeding may be expected to follow them. If, for example by the addition of a relatively insignificant amount of some cheap catalyzer the farmer can fatten his stock on half the grain ordinarily required, the steadily advancing cost of living will receive a notable check.—Chicago Record Herald.

A small supply of the remarkable substance known as "Food Catalyzer" may be obtained from The Flexine Co., Indianapolis, Ind., which they will furnish with full instructions for use to persons thin in flesh and who apply before supply is exhausted, at $5.00 per package. Only one package can be furnished to each applicant until a larger supply can be obtained.

The Doctrine of Good Shoes May Be Profitably Preached Only By a Good Shoe Man

Frankly, we'd hate to be in the "near shoe" business! We'd hate to carry lines of shoes that sell only because the price is small. Somehow, we feel that it would be about as creditable to circulate bad money as to sell bad shoes. Perhaps the selling of poor shoes will stop, sometime. It ought to stop.

Farmer's Wives Have to Face Domestic Problem

The wages of farm labor is the subject of a bulletin issued by the United States department of agriculture. It contains the details of the latest of a series of nineteen investigations covering a period of forty-four years, and a summary of the preceding investigations is included in the bulletin.

In contracts of hiring by the year, with board, the wage rate of men a month increased from $10.09 in 1866 to $18.05 in 1909, or a gain of 78.9 per cent. The gain from 1890 to 1909 was 35.8 per cent.

The wage rate of men a day, with board, for day labor, were ascertained throughout the period, and were found to increase from $1.04 for harvest work in 1866 to $1.43 in 1909, or 37.5 per cent. From 1890 to 1909 the increase was 32.4 per cent., and from 1899 to 1909, 30.0 per cent.

For labor, other than harvest, with board, the wage rates of men a day increased from 64 cents in 1866 to $1.03 in 1901, or 60.9 per cent. The percentage of increase from 1890 to 1909 was 43.1, and from 1909 it was 37.3.

Among the geographic divisions of states in 1909 the highest rate of wages a month in hiring by the year, with board, is found in the western group, where the average was $31.30. Next in order was the north central division with $22.22; third in order was the north Atlantic division with $20.73; the south Atlantic states had an average of $14.25, and lowest of all was the average of the south Atlantic states, $13.10.

Rates of wages, the bulletin says, do not express the real wages received by the farm laborer in this country. Apart from the changes in the purchasing power of money wages there are various extras that supplement wage rates. In this investigation an attempt was made to get information with regard to the value of supplementary allowances. It appears that the average monthly value of the dwelling, garden and other appurtenances, the use of which was a part of the real wages paid, without board, in 1909, ranged from $1.75 to $5, through the United States, and the amount when wages were paid, with board, ranged from $1 to $4.50.

The average value of feed for cow, horse, swine or poultry a month ranged from $1.11 to $3.11; the value of pasturage for cow, horse or swine ranged from 65 cents to $1.61; the value of fire wood for family use and the team to haul it, ranged from $1.06 to $2.39; the occasional use of team for hauling was valued at 48 cents to $1.70, and the occasional use of horse and buggy, probably reaching as high a frequency as weekly use, ranged from 87 cents to $2.37.

The estimated value of the fruit given to the family of the laborer was reported to be worth from 80 cents to $1.64 a month; the value of the stabling for the laborer's horse, if he had one, was estimated to be 45 cents to $2 a month, and the laundry service for the laborer was estimated to range from 75 cents to $2 a month.

The increase in the purchasing power in the wage rates of farm laborers as compared with that of workingmen was ascertained by the bureau of labor. The purchasing power of wages, in terms of retail prices of food from 1890 to 1898, is regarded as being 100.0. For the period 1899 to 1907, the purchasing power in the case of workingmen increased only to 101.4, but, in the case of farm laborers the purchasing power of wages a month in hiring by the year and season increased to 110.1; the purchasing power of day rates of wages for harvest work increased to 111.5, and of day rates for other than harvest to 115.2. Notwithstanding the increase of retail prices of food, the rates of wages of farm labor have increased in degrees sufficient to make as a new result a substantial rate of increase.

The wages of women for domestic labor on farm receives attention. This subject was first investigated in 1902. In hiring by the season, the wage rates of the domestic labor of women on the farm are higher than in hiring by the year. The monthly rate by the season was $9.71 in 1902; $11.95 in 1906, and $12.02 in 1909. The western division of states has an average rate far above the average for the United States in 1909, namely $21.55; the rates for the North Atlantic and north central divisions are a little above the national average, while in the south central division the average is $9.92; and in the South Atlantic division, $8.25. The foregoing rates are with board.

The report declares that in farm household matters the situation is acute with regard to the supply of hired labor. Country girls as well as city seem to regard household labor for hire as undesirable. Joined with this fact is the other one that the women of the farmers' family are neither able nor willing to repeat the manual labor performances of their grandmothers on the farm. Besides this, the farmer's standard of living has risen, certainly on the medium and better sort of farms in the north and west; and in a perceptible degree the women of the farmer's family have engaged in social functions which are beginning to be incompatible with the performances of household labor without the aid of a servant. The social obligations undertaken by them are for the Grange, the women's clubs, the Maccabees, the Women's Christian Temperance union, the local church, the farmer's club, and a list that might be much extended.

The old-time domestic industries are all but forgotten. The women on the farm make no more soap, candles or lye, and so on with a long list of domestic products of former days; it is rare that one of the younger women knows how to knit. Throughout the large areas the price of the housewife in great store of preserves, dried and pickled fruits, berries and vegetables exists chiefly in history, and dependence is placed mostly upon the local store for the products of the cannery and the evaporator.

It is protested that the frequently published statement that farm life has made the women of the farm especially prone to insanity is a calumny. There is no statistical authority for the assertion, and the author of this bulletin has endeavored for nearly a score of years to discover er the originator of the fabrication, with indications that the irresponsible author was for many years a popular writer on domestic subjects.

SUNDAY SCHOOL. LETTING LIGHT IN ON METHODS

Lesson VIII.—Fourth Quarter,
For Nov. 24, 1912.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mark ix, 1-13.
Memory Verses, 9, 10—Golden Text,
Luke ix, 35 (R. V.)—Commentary
Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This lesson, like the last, is recorded by Matthew and Luke as well as by Mark. It was the one occasion on which the glory which was always in Him was allowed to shine through in this particular way. In the tabernacle and in the temple the glory of God was always in the holy of holies above the mercy seat, between the cherubim, but the veil concealed it—the veil which was rent in twain from the top to the bottom in the midst when He died and which, we are told in Heb. x, 20, represented His flesh or body. John says that "the word was made flesh and tabernacled among us, and we beheld His glory."

As he makes no record of the transfiguration, possibly he refers to it in this saying, as well as to His whole life on earth. Peter undoubtedly refers to the transfiguration when he says, "We made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ and were eyewitnesses of His majesty," for he mentions the holy mount and the words from the Father (John i, 14; 7 Pet. i, 16-18).

In connection with the coming of Christ in glory which He mentioned in last week's lesson He said that some of those who stood there would not taste of death till they had seen the kingdom of God come in His kingdom. Then after six intervening days, or, as Luke says, about eight days, He took Peter and James and John into a high mountain, apart by themselves, and as He prayed He was transfigured before them. It seems to me that the wonder was not that the glory now shone through the veil of His flesh, but that it was always there, yet concealed. But it was, as to His whole life, the time of His appearing as one to us, sin excepted (Heb. ii, 14).

His face did shine as the sun, and His raiment was white and glistening, shining, white as the light, white as snow. When Moses came down from the mount the skin of his face shone so that he had to wear a veil while he talked with the people (Ex. xxxiv, 29-35). That must have been reflected light. He did not wear the veil when he went in to talk with the Lord and possibly only after he had done talking with the people. Stephen's face seems to have reflected something of the same light (Acts vi, 15). How wonderful the statements concerning us in Matt. xiii, 43; I John iii, 2. Consider for a little these two men from heaven who are talking with Jesus and whom the three favored disciples saw and seemed to know, for Peter mentions them by name.

It was over 1,400 years since Moses died and was buried on Mount Nebo (Deut. xxxiv) and perhaps 900 years since Elijah was taken from the side of Elisha on the east of Jordan by a whirlwind and horses and chariot of fire (II Kings ii), yet here they are, alive and well and recognized, as no doubt we shall know all in the glory without introductions. They talked with Jesus about His decease, which He should accomplish at Jerusalem (Luke ix, 31).

By virtue of that atoning death they and all the redeemed from Abel onward had enjoyed centuries of bliss, as it were, on a promissory note now about to be paid. None are in glory nor ever can be except by virtue of that precious blood in due time shed on Golgotha. It is the blood that maketh atonement, and without shedding of blood there is no remission of sins (Lev. xvii, 11; Heb. ix, 22). The disciples were heavy with sleep (Luke ix, 32), and so it was also in Gethsemane. Are we not all in a measure asleep to the great things of God? How often we talk as foolishly as Peter, who suggested the three tabernacles, not knowing what to say.

That is a good word for us, "Awake, thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light" (Eph. ii, 14). As Peter spoke a cloud overshadowed them, and a voice came out of the cloud, saying: "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. Hear ye Him." And they saw no man any more save Jesus only with themselves (verses 7, 8; Matt. xxvii, 5-8). To Him give all the prophets witness, and so it must be Jesus only. The Lord alone shall be exalted. See now the kingdom in miniature—the Lord Jesus glorified and with Him the risen saints represented by Moses and the translated saints represented by Elijah. The three disciples may represent all Israel made righteous and the multitude at the foot of the hill the people to be blessed when the kingdom comes.

Blessed are all who see the glory of His kingdom, endeavor now to walk worthy of it and live to hasten it. As they came down from the mount He charged them to tell no one of the wonders they had seen till the Son of Man should be risen from the dead, but just what that saying meant not one of them could tell (verse 10), for they did not believe that He was to die. They remembered some of the last words of Malachi concerning Elijah and spoke of them, and Jesus indorsed them and said that they would surely be fulfilled, but that there had been already a fulfillment in John the Baptist.

Aldermanic Commission Investigating New York Police.

SOME INTERESTING DETAILS

Testimony Tending to Implicate Police Force in Connivance With Burglars For Purposes of Gain Brought Out in Hearing Now in Progress in the Metropolis—Some of the Witnesses Take Immunity Bath.

New York, Nov. 22.—Refusing to sign a waiver of immunity for testimony he might give before the aldermanic commission, the committee excused Second Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty without examination. Witnesses questioned by Emory R. Buckner, chief counsel for the committee, and Harold S. Deming, assistant counsel, had testified that the second deputy police commissioner had taken part in framing up a burglary in a loft building across from Grace church on Broadway, the object of which was the capture of certain loft burglars. Testimony charged Mr. Dougherty with assaulting prisoners whom he was interrogating at police headquarters. The testimony bringing in the deputy commissioner's name was given largely by convicts, an admitted stool pigeon and confessing robbers, and the refusal of Mr. Dougherty to waive immunity came as an apparent surprise to the counsel for the committee.

"I have not done anything, and I don't want any immunity, and I won't waive it," remarked the deputy commissioner when he was asked to sign a waiver. "I think it is an insult to ask a man to waive immunity."

The first actual testimony of money passing to policemen to be introduced in the present investigation was given by Harry Sapiro, proprietor of the African Feather company. He already had testified regarding the burglary in his place, and had told of receiving some $1,560 from the National Surety company for feathers still missing after the police returned the loot. The policemen themselves had told of capturing the thieves at the door and taking all the loot to the station house.

Before Sapiro took the stand his lawyer insisted upon his receiving immunity for his testimony. This was granted. Sapiro then said that he had given $175 to Lieutenant John Glynn after the burglary, the detective first asking for $500. Witness understood that the $175 would be made about $25 apiece for the detectives engaged on the case. The money was paid, witness said, in a saloon.

Lieutenant Glynn, the detective accused by Sapiro, signed the immunity waiver before testifying. He said Detective Clare had introduced Levy as Detective Daly's "stool" to witness, and said Levy had some information. Levy told him there was a job coming off in the feather place and Glynn says he asked Levy if Levy was in on the job, and the latter replied he was not. Glynn got permission to put detectives in a building across the street and with his men watched for the burglars. He said he didn't see anybody enter the building, but saw the men when they came out, and grabbed them. He was sure Levy was not there at the time of the robbery. Glynn denied that Levy had told him he was going to let the burglars into the building adjoining, and he had no idea Levy was arranging the robbery.

The burglars, according to testimony given by Levy at a previous hearing, were let into the adjoining building by him and blew a hole with dynamite in the wall, thereby getting access to Sapiro's loft. Levy had further testified he had seen one of the detectives engaged in the case, carrying feathers out.

With regard to the charge made by Sapiro, Glynn admitted meeting Sapiro in the saloon. He denied having asked Sapiro for money or receiving any money from him. One of the prisoners in the case, Goldstein, had testified before the committee that Glynn called on him in the Tombs and said he would get him off with a light sentence if he would bring Levy into the job. Glynn admitted calling on Goldstein in the Tombs, but said it was in response to word from Goldstein that he could give him some information.

The Democratic leaders in Congress favor the enactment of a law, in the short session this winter, giving independence to the Philippines. They aim to get a measure of this sort out of the way before President-elect Wilson enters office, as they believe that he will have more than enough work on his hands during the time, short or long, in which the Democrats contrive to retain control of Congress. Independence for the Philippines was urged in the Baltimore platform, and presumably, is favored by Mr. Wilson. Unquestionably it is not favored by the present president, and is not likely to get a majority in the Senate. If Philippine independence comes the Democratic party will be compelled to shoulder responsibility for it, and it will have to come in the Congress which enters existence on March 4th next.

Mr. Cleveland did a piece of flag furling in the early part of 1904, when he lowered it in Hawaii, after President Harrison, in the latter days of his term, had set it up. This was one of the acts of the first part of Cleveland's second term which drove the Democrats out of power just as soon as the people could get at them, and Cleveland had a Republican Congress during his last two years in office. In 1898, while the Spanish war was under way, the country formally annexed Hawaii, and it has been ours ever since. Its possession by us has not only aided its people, but it has added much to our resources, and has given us an outpost in the Pacific which may be of large strategic value to us in the conflicts of the future.

This Philippine elimination programme by the Democrats may give rise to the query as to what they may do to other pieces of outlying territory. Will they restore Hawaii to its former status, and undo the work of development which has gone on with considerable activity in the fourteen years in which it has been under the flag? What will become of Porto Rico in the new dispensation? Will that island also be cast out? By treaty we have a protectorate over the republics of Cuba and Panama. Will this be allowed to stand through Democratic days? How about the Panama Canal? Will we be compelled to give up our lease on the canal zone and hand the control over to the little isthmian republic, or invite Columbia in to regain its hold on that region? Some picturesque possibilities in the way of "anti-imperialism" are involved in that Democratic victory the other day. Even our title to Alaska may be challenged.

We feel that many people of Rushville and Rush county will join with us in complimenting the majority of the stockholders of the Rush County Fair Association for voting at the annual meeting last week to do away with the pass system for stockholders. It was an act of sacrifice and one which deserves commendation. All the revenue stockholders of the association have ever received from their investment has been an annual pass to the fair. Yet they are willing to give up even that for the good of the Rush county fair. We commend their sacrifice to stockholders who voted against the measure and hope that they will emulate the majority at the meeting in redoubling their efforts to make the fair a success.

The Columbia City Commercial Mail gives the following timely advice to would-be postmasters: "Kind friends, the fellows who has the making of postmasters and sich don't always, by several jugsful, consider either the quantity of the letters and written endorsements a candidate presents. The nod or wink or word of assent from certain men in the community more frequently does the business—when coming from the right source and discreetly presented. It is the pull—the drag, dear boys, that knocks the persimmons. Don't forget to bear down hard on the 'drag.'"

The "seven little governors" who first led the Roosevelt campaign this year by pledging support have come to a bad political end, and the newspapers comment upon it. Stubbs of Kansas, is defeated, and so are Carey of Wyoming, Glascock of West Virginia, and Aldrich of Nebraska, Osborn of Michigan, and Bass of New Hampshire, failed to be renominated even, and Hadley of Missouri, is with the Republican party in its greatest defeat. It was a hard time for the Moose!

Under the Democratic tariff to be passed shortly the Canadians expect to get greater advantages than were provided in the reciprocity bill, and at the same time Canada will maintain its own protective duties unchanged.

Senator Sutherland has a magazine article on "What shall we do with the Constitution?" The first thing apparently would be to put an ad in the Lost Articles column and see what has become of it.

It is presumed that at the opening of the Panama Canal the Republican party will not be consigned to the gallery on the charge that it is not progressive.

AMUSEMENTS

The Princess program tonight will include two interesting dramas. "An Unseen Enemy" is a Biograph picture, telling a thrilling story and full of human interest. The other is a Vitagraph "The Hindoo Curse." Tomorrow night a Vitagraph "Popular Betty" will be featured.

A peculiar interest to Indianians is the announcement of a play from the pen of its famous Author, Mr. Booth. Tarkington. On November 25th, 26th and 27th, English's opera house will offer Wm. T. Hodge in "The Man From Home." No play taken from the stories of Mr. Tarkington has won a higher place in theatrical offerings than this. From the time of its production until the present time it has never failed to appeal to capacity audiences, and Indianapolis and the surrounding territory will be glad to welcome it again. Mr. Hodge has a part that appeals strongly to every American and needless to say, he plays with all the feeling it demands, bringing out both the humor and pathos.

William H. Crane is booked for an early appearance here, on November 28th, 29th and 30th, when he will be seen in the central character of Martha Morton's comedy, "The Senator Keeps House." The play has just completed a long engagement in the East. Mr. Crane will bring his original production and the metropolitan cast with him for his local visit. The play is a comedy of the present, with all its locale in Washington, D. C. The motive is more domestic than political, though there is naturally a flavor of politics in the telling of any story that centers about the life in the national capital. The leading figure is one that gives Mr. Crane every scope for the display of those talents which have endeared him for so many seasons to theatergoers throughout the country.

Old Friends and New

Winning permanent, lasting friends is the work of time, and this bank numbers among its clients hundreds of banks and business houses with whom it has had close relations for a great part of the forty one years of its existence.

Our friends have helped to make this a successful bank. We have helped in their making, too.

We welcome new friends and will attend to their wants with the same fidelity which has cemented our relations with our oldest ones.

Partly because it was the eighty-fifth birthday anniversary of Peter Mauzy and partly because Miss Mattie Wilson of 722 North Perkins street and Frank Mauzy of Madison county were married Wednesday, a family dinner was held at the home of Peter Mauzy in North Morgan street, and was attended by thirty-five or forty members of the Mauzy family. It was a very happy occasion for Peter Mauzy to be surrounded by so many of his relatives, as well as for the newly wedded couple. Mr. and Mrs. Mauzy will make their future home in Rushville. They were married by the Rev. C. M. Vocum, pastor of the Main Street Christian church, Wednesday.

The Rev. J. B. Meacham, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, today sent a very unique invitation through the mails to regular and prospective members of the Men's Bible class of the Sunday school. It is as follows:

The men of the First Presbyterian church started on a tour through the Bible some time ago and issued free passes, good for 52 Sundays in the year and in all kinds of weather.

I remember seeing you get on one morning at 9:30, Presbyterian time. We started at "The Beginning," just before you got to the Garden of Eden. After a short stop with Adam and his wife, we set sail with Noah in his Ark. One hundred and fifty days later we landed on top of Mt. Ararat. Our next jaunt was southward to the home of Abraham, in Southern Babylonia. By caravan we took passage with him up the Euphrates river, by way of "Old Bagdad," through the city of Damascus to the land of Canaan, and down into Egypt and back.

In course of time we fell in with Jacob, Abraham's grandson. With him we took another trip to Egypt; this time in wagons, which Joseph sent to bring his father. In Egypt we witnessed the most cruel bondage of the children of Israel, till Moses appeared on the scene and took the kinks out of Pharaoh, the king, with his wonderful miracles. With Moses as "Captain of the host" we started for the Promised Land in company with about three million liberated Israelites. We took the Wilderness road, by way of Mt. Sinai, where Moses received the Ten Commandments, built the Tabernacle and wrote Leviticus.

After arranging the line of march and taking the census we continued our journey northward until we got hung up in the "Wilderness" on account of unbelief and disobedience. Here we camped out for 40 years. Then with a new generation we took up our journey and came to the land of Moab, which lies east of the Jordan, in sight of the Land of Promise. Here Moses preached his last sermon and died. We had his burial last Sabbath.

Joshua, the son of Nun, is in charge now, and in three days we will cross the Jordan. We want you to be at the crossing next Sunday. If you should be sick, we will wait for you at Heshbon, near Mt. Nebo, where Moses died, and hope you will be able to take up the march the Sunday following. All the boys want you in the crowd. We don't want anybody to drop out, and will be disappointed if we have to proceed without you. We will renew your pass any time.

We beg to remain yours for a delightful trip from "Genesis" to "Revelation."

CHAPTER XV.

THE DANCE OF DEATH.

FLUSH of excited pleasure

spread Stuart's face as he led his beautiful hostess to the dining room. Apparently on entering the banquet hall they were stepping outdoors into an enchanted

pine forest. The walls were complete ly hidden by painted scenery representing the mountains of western

North Carolina. The room had been transformed into a forest, trees and shrubby melting imperceptibly into the scenery on the walls and mocking birds were singing in cages hidden

high among the boughs of the trees.

"Why, Nan," Stuart gasped, "that's a view of the river hills at home

where you and I used to roam."

"Well, if you hadn't recognized it, I should never have forgiven you. Are you pleased with my fantasy?"

"Pleased is not the word for it,"

he replied quickly. "I'm overwhelmed

I never thought you so sentimental."

"Perhaps I'm not; perhaps I've only found this to please a friend. Do you begin to feel at home in this little spot I've brought back by magic tonight from our youth?"

"I'm afraid I'll wake up and find

I'm dreaming."

Stuart gazed with increasing astonishment at the magnificently set table.

Winding in and out among the solid silver candelabra a tiny stream of crystal water flowed among miniature trees and flowers on its banks. The flowers were all blooming orchids of rarest coloring and weirdly fantastic shapes.

The service was all made for this occasion, silver, cut glass and china.

Each piece had stamped or etched on it the coat of arms of his native state,

with the motto, "Peace and Plenty."

"And you've done all this in six weeks? It's incredible."

"The world will say tomorrow morning that I have given this lavish entertainment for a vulgar display. In a terrible sense it's a nothing New York has

in splendor, but the fortune it cost seen. But I've seen the smile on well spent to have you look at that your face when I would have painting of our old home, have known

given five times as much, have known

ment the past ten years to

that you didn't hate me."

"You know it now."

"Yes," she answered tenderly, "I have said so with your lips before

now you mean it. You are your old handsome self tonight."

Apart from the charm of Nan's presence Stuart found the dinner itself a stupid affair, so solemnly staged it at parts.

Stuart took the expected effects of the peculiar so. The impression was splendor. Instead of the lights were dimmed like the late. The effect

dimmed like the late. The effect

round them told and treating with excitement.

"What on earth does this mean?"

"Simply that I was engaged to sing tonight, and I wanted to surprise you. Didn't you like my song?"

"It lifted me to the gates of heaven, dear."

"Then I don't care whether any one else heard it or not. But I did so much wish that she might have heard it or her husband because they are from the south."

"But I don't understand—your father hates Bivens so."

A big hand was laid on his shoulder. He turned and faced the doctor smiling.

"But I don't hate him, my boy! I've given up such foolishness. I've buried the hatchet. I'm to see him in a few minutes and we are to be good friends."

"Bivens invited you here to discuss a business proposition tonight?" Stuart exclaimed, blankly.

"No, no, no," the doctor answered. "I came with Harriet, of course. Her music teacher placed her on the program. But Mr. Bivens and I have had some correspondence and I'm to see him in a little while and talk things over quite informally, of course, but effectively."

"He has agreed to a conference here?" the young lawyer asked, anxiously.

"Why, of course. His butler has just told me he would see me immediately after the ball begins."

Stuart breathed easier and turned to Harriet.

"You look glorious tonight, little pal! Funny that I never saw you in evening dress before. You look so tall and queenly, so grown, so mature. You're beginning to make me feel old, child. I'll be thinking of you as a grown woman next."

"I am twenty-four, you know," she said, simply.

"I have never believed it until tonight. I wouldn't have known you at first but for your voice. I had to rub my eyes then."

The lights were suddenly turned lower, approaching total darkness. The attendants noiselessly removed the temporary stage and cleared the great room for the dancers.

HUNDRED YEAR CLUBS

Believe Life May be Prolonged.

Men who are devoting their lives to the study of longevity believe that in days to come a man of ninety will be in his prime, and old age will begin long past a hundred years.

Scientists have proved that the simple life, temperate habits, exercise, and an active mind are essential to a long and happy life.

When the blood gets thin and sluggish and creeps lazily through the veins, and the arteries begin to harden, there is nothing that will enrich the blood, improve the circulation and restore strength to every back-sliding organ in the body so quickly as our delicate tonic cod liver and iron tonic Vinol.

Bloom of Lewiston, Me., at 83 years of age was so weak she had to be wheeled around in an invalid's chair—she was taking a few bottles of Vinol she could take long walks and do her housework. That shows how Vinol strengthens old people.

Try Vinol on our guarantee that it will do you good or cost you nothing. F. B. Johnson and Company, druggists, Rushville, Indiana.

FUND OF $10,000,000 TO PENSION WORKERS.

Bell Telephone, Western Union and Western Electric Provide It.

The Bell Telephone company announced that the board of directors of that corporation and those of the Western Union Telegraph and Western Electric companies have established a $10,000,000 pension fund for the benefit of their employees.

This fund is to be available for those who have been in the service of the companies for more than a year, and it will not only pay death benefits, but also sick benefits and indemnify their employees against accidents.

The employees are to be paid according to the amount of their wages, a certain percentage of their salaries governing the amounts to which they are to be entitled. Many employees who have been compelled to be without income during illness will receive a percentage of their salary.

The death benefits are also based on the wages and salaries which the employees receive, and when they are killed in the service of the companies or in the actual performance of their duties, the amount to which their heirs are entitled will be doubled.

The company says this matter has been under consideration for some time, but the working out of the problem has entailed such an enormous amount of labor to be able to equalize the benefits which will accrue to all of their employees that it has been impossible to arrange the details until this time.

The plan is to become effective on Dec. 1, and this fund has been set off in the liabilities of the companies the same as any other portion of their funded debt and is secured by bonds bearing interest.

The companies have 175,000 employees. Male employees who have reached the age of sixty and have been twenty years or more in the service of the companies will be permitted to retire on pensions. They may be retired at the option of the companies at fifty-five years of age, after twenty-five years of service. The pension age for women employees is in each case five years younger than male employees. The amount of the pension is automatically based on the years of service and the amount of pay and will be 1 per cent of the average annual pay for ten years, multiplied by the number of years of service.

FORESAW WILSON'S ELECTION

His Teacher Predicted It When He Was Ten Years Old.

John C. Baker of Manhattan, Ill., was the happiest man in Will county over the election of Woodrow Wilson to the presidency because of a prediction made by his sister, Mrs. Mary Russell, more than forty years ago.

Mrs. Russell was Wilson's teacher when he was ten years old in Tipton school in Wilmington, S. C., and at that time predicted that the boy would some day be president. She did not live to see her prophecy fulfilled, dying three years ago at Leesville, N. C., at the age of eighty-four.

As a token of his esteem Wilson gave his teacher a little fretwork picture frame, which is now in the Baker home. Mrs. Russell watched Dr. Wilson grow to fame and with each advance changed the picture in the frame. When she gave the frame to her brother she remarked, "You will want to keep this, for when he gets to be president you will be very proud of it."

Mr. Baker says that Governor Wilson's father, the Rev. Joseph Wilson, visited him at Manhattan when his son published his first book and said, "Well, I don't see where Woodrow gets his smartness."

"PRISON SHIP" FOR CADETS.

Naval Academy Restores Old "Chain Gang" Punishment.

Convinced that simple confinement to quarters does not make up a sufficiently serious punishment for midshipmen guilty of certain infractions of the rules, Captain J. H. Gibbons, superintendent of the Naval academy, has ordered that hereafter they will be confined to a station ship, as in years past, during the period of their punishment, and the old Reina Mercedes, captured from Spain in 1898, has been selected as the "prison ship."

A number of interdicted midshipmen already have taken up their abode between her decks. The midshipmen who are in disgrace are formed in a squad and marched from the ship to their recitations and meals and then marched back again, no intercourse being allowed with their fellows.

The squad in the old days was called the "chain gang."

A PARSON'S REMEDY

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.

The widow Goodhue had come east from Michigan and settled in a Connecticut village. She was a childless woman of forty-five, and the villagers liked her looks and gave her welcome. For five or six weeks all went well, and then the widow broke out.

A villager who had done some painting for the widow called for his money. She opened fire on him at once. After tongue lashing him for five minutes she picked up a club and drove him from the premises. She had a garden, and she had given a neighbor permission to cut the grass for his cow. He was cutting away when the woman descended upon him and gave him a cuff on the ear and rushed him out of the yard a much frightened man. The grocer happened to be passing, and he halted at the gate to see the fun. Mrs. Goodhue walked out to him and said:

"See here, you baboon faced son of a gun, you trot right on or I'll break your knees."

The grocer stood with mouth open and wondered if he had heard aright.

"Didn't I tell you to trot?" demanded the widow as she whirled him around and administered a kick that raised his heels six inches from the ground.

Across the street a carpenter was building a fence. As he hammered away a shadow fell across his feet. At the same time a stick fell upon his head.

"What! What's this?" he asked as he whirled around.

"Too much darned noise!" replied the woman.

"Why, lady, I have got to hammer in the nails."

"Then I've got to hammer you with this stick!"

And she sailed in and drove him from his job, and, like the grass cutter and the grocer, he went away to spread the report that the Widow Goodhue had gone plumb crazy. The facts in the matter later reached the ears of Dr. Beazler, the oldest practitioner in the county, and an acknowledged authority on mental diseases, and he made a call to see how bad the case was. He found the patient seated on the floor in the middle of the room, with her hair down and a broken chair beside her. At the first glance he decided that she was crazy.

"Well?" she asked after they had stared at each other for half a minute.

"You are not feeling very well?" he half queried.

"You are an infernal liar!" she promptly replied.

Dr. Beazler smiled like the bloom on a bull thistle and sat down. As he sat down the widow jumped up. He read his peril in her eyes and made a bolt for the door and got most of his body outside before her foot hit the rest of it. That settled it. The newcomer was as crazy as a March, April or May hare. She must be restrained. The law must be appealed to. The village was agog over the news, but it had something more coming to it. Next day and before any steps had been taken the smiling and good natured widow was asking the neighbor why he didn't cut more grass for his cow. She was at the grocery ordering a big bill of entables. She was bowing to Dr. Beazler across the street, and she repaid three or four social calls. Crazy? Why, the person that said so must be a born fool. She was just lovely, she was.

Five times in one year the widow had those queer spells. Then the good Deacon Watkins came from a distance of nine miles to court her and win her hand and carry her off to Medina. It was all done in six weeks' time, and none of the villagers posted the woe as to those strange spells. He had been a bridegroom for several weeks and was still feeling muzzy when one of them came on and gave him the surprise of his life. He was cuffed and kicked down cellar and upstairs and out of the house, and for two days he ate raw turnips and slept in the barn. Then peace and love was restored and all went merrily. There were four outbreaks before the deacon went to think of divorce. Then he went to his pastor to talk things over.

"She doesn't get hold of liquor?" asked the parson.

"Not a drop; not even cider."

"Was there insanity in her family?" asked the parson.

"Yes, kinder—that is, I guess I do."

"Which means that your wife does."

"Um!"

The parson reflected for five minutes, and then for five more he was busy whispering into the deacon's right ear. Then the deacon smiled and nodded and went home. The next day the parson went on his vacation, and it was six weeks before they met again.

"Well?" asked the parson.

"She started in to have another."

"And you?"

"Gave her the gad—licked her good and stout."

"And she?"

"Cuddled right down; said that was what ailed her—she wanted a strong hand to boss her. She'll have no more spells."

"I'm glad to hear it."

"But, parson," asked the deacon, with a puzzled look on his face, "how did you know the remedy for such cases?"

The parson didn't say. He simply looked at the deacon and almost smiled and winked—almost.

AMERICAN WOMAN BEING PERSECUTED

Opinion Held In Rome Concerning Signora Moschini.

Rome, Nov. 22.—Arrested last Saturday night while in a hotel with a naval lieutenant, on a charge made by her husband, Deputy Moschini, Signora Moschini, formerly Lulu Davis of Texas, has just been released from jail. Her counsel accompanied the American woman, who is believed generally to be the victim of persecution, to her hotel, where she was warmly greeted by the guests. Signora Moschini seemed to be weak and tired, but happy over the fact that she had secured her freedom, especially when she realized that owing to her husband's political and financial influence, she ran the risk of indefinite imprisonment.

In an interview after her release Signora Moschini said: "Last Saturday night I went to a moving picture show with Lieutenant Bellegrand and the socialist Count, Le Sage, who, I have now ascertained, was a detective employed by my husband merely to compromise me. When the show was over it was raining hard and I was drenched. As I was suffering from a sore throat, Le Sage proposed that we seek shelter at Lieutenant Bellegrand's house, which was done. Le Sage left the lieutenant and myself alone and hastened to inform the police, who came in and found that I had removed my shoes and was warning my feet at the fire. I had doffed my wet coat and replaced it with one of the lieutenant's. The police arrested us."

Domestic Quarrel Leads to Double Tragedy at Hammond.

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 22.—Frank Cravens, nineteen years old, son of Lincoln Cravens, a Hammond lawyer, formerly of Madison, shot his stepmother four times at her home here and then fired two bullets into his own body. Both will die.

Lincoln Cravens came to Hammond several years ago to be a law partner of Judge J. G. Ibach of the appellate court. When Mr. Ibach was elected Mr. Cravens took over his practice. Two years ago his son Frank suffered the loss of a leg in a railroad accident. Mr. Cravens's wife died and later he married again.

The stepmother and stepson did not agree on all things, and they quarreled just before the shooting. A maid employed in the house heard the quarrel and left the house. Neighbors heard the shooting and, rushing in, found the two bodies on the floor.

Not at Home to Photographers. Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 22.—Governor Wilson is not at home to the photographers, who are amusing the natives by perching in the windows along Mr. Wilson's driving route. The president elect has not played golf yet and is spending much of his time sleeping.

Woman's Mysterious Disappearance. Providence, R. I., Nov. 22.—Miss Norma Garvin, second daughter of ex-Governor F. L. C. Garvin, is missing from her home in Lonsdale, and fears are entertained for her safety. Miss Garvin is thirty-five years old.

Master of Forty Thieves.

New York, Nov. 22.—Investigation shows that "Henry Vogel," the man shot to death in a battle with detectives a few nights ago, was master of more than forty girls whom he trained and forced to steal for him.

Run Over by Cars.

Logansport, Ind., Nov. 22.—William Bowers, aged thirty, a brakeman, was instantly killed when he was struck by a cut of cars in the Panhandle yards. He is survived by a widow and one small child.

SAY THE ALLIES ASKED TOO MUCH

Turks Reject Terms Proposed for Armistice.

ORDER THE FIGHTING RENEWED

Consideration Proposed in Lieu of the Forced Entrance of Bulgarian Army into the Sultan's Capital Was Too Bitter a Pill for Ottoman Pride to Swallow, and Nazim Pasha's Army Was Again Forced into the Open.

London, Nov. 22.—The troops of Nazim Pasha in the Tchataldja forts again have taken up their arms, the Turk having rejected the terms of the allies. And in Constantinople once more there comes the sound of artillery fire, telling the people of the sultan's city that the fighting is on again.

The action of the Ottoman government comes as no surprise to diplomats. The surrender of Adrianople, Scutari, Janina and Dreiba and the evacuation of the Tchataldja lines, the terms under which the allies said they would forego their entrance into Constantinople, made too bitter a pill for the proud palate of the Ottoman.

The official announcement of the terms simply said: "The porte, finding the Bulgarian conditions for an armistice unacceptable, has ordered Nazim Pasha to resume military operations."

The grand vizier, Jamil Pasha, spoke bitterly of the harshness of the terms. He said that he had received them from the Russian ambassador. Turkey's acceptance of them was impossible, he said.

There comes word of a naval engagement between a Turkish cruiser and Bulgarian torpedo boats in the Black sea, where each side claims the victory.

There is evidently fighting going on in the waters of the Marmora sea, for the sound of firing could be heard of the southern entrance of the Bosphorus in Constantinople.

Athens has received a dispatch telling of the victory of her troops over the defeated Turkish troops falling back from captured Monastir. The Greeks say they came up with and cut to pieces the rear guard and then pressed on to engage the main body near Florina, where there was a heavy battle. No details of the result of the fight has reached Athens.

GETTING TOGETHER

Europe Has No Desire For a General War Just Now.

Buda Pest, Nov. 22.—[Special Correspondence.]—Never since the beginning of the war has the outlook been less gloomy than today. Never have the official watchmen in their conning towers felt more hopeful of working things out to such a satisfactory issue as will leave Europe in peace and all the interested parties moderately discontented. Von Berchtold, the Austrian foreign minister, who will accompany his majesty to Vienna tomorrow, leans on the homeward journey contemplate the future without any of the preoccupation which the situation inspired a couple of weeks ago.

The conviction that the danger of a European war is now infinitesimal is fast gaining ground in the chancelleries of Europe. Serbia is aware that the scope of her patriotic ambition is circumscribed by the legitimate interests of the great powers. She is also alive to the fact that Austria's policy toward her is actuated not, as alleged, by enmity, but by friendship, based on common interests, united efforts and mutual confidence.

Russia understands that Austria has made appreciable sacrifices to readjust her policy to the new order of things in southeastern Europe, and Austria readily recognizes the praiseworthy efforts made by the czar's advisers to prevent a breach of international peace. Italy and France, who entertained the idea that they would suffer commercially by the customs union which they fancied Austria was preparing to impose on Serbia, are beginning to realize that compulsion forms no part of Count Von Berchtold's methods, nor is an obligatory commercial union included among his political ends. In like manner Bulgaria has come to the conclusion that she had better lose no time in laying the foundation for the friendship of Roumania, who has deserved so well of all the Balkan states. Pourparlers to this effect have begun and M. Benet, the special Bulgarian representative, is expected shortly in Bucharest.

BELVA LOCKWOOD

Former Candidate For President Predicts Woman in White House.

WOMAN PRESIDENT IN FIFTEEN YEARS

That Is What Suffragists Now Are Predicting.

Philadelphia, Nov. 22.—Within the sacred confines of the "Cradle of Liberty" and within a few feet of the liberty bell, there has been read another declaration of independence, the declaration of woman's right to the ballot, and while it was the same declaration that was made at Seneca Falls, N. Y., in 1848, it was wildly applauded as the marking of a new epoch.

No convention was ever more spectacular. Silver haired and golden tongued Dr. Anna Shaw was everywhere prominent. Venerable Belva Lockwood was there, and she confidently predicted that within the next fifteen years, we should have a woman president of the United States.

There was an automobile street parade. Independence Square was packed when the old statehouse bell tolled, out the hour, and Dr. Anna Shaw took the platform. Dr. Anna Shaw took the original Declaration of Independence and declared that it was not framed for Jew or Gentile, male or female, and that its framers had no idea of depriving women of their liberties and the right of suffrage. And the delegates to the national woman's suffrage convention cheered as they never had cheered before. The recent election had given them many new grounds for encouragement and they were in a cheerful and cheering mood.

Death List Raised to Sixteen.

Indianapolis, Nov. 22.—Fred W. Hutcheson, twenty-six years old, of Madison, Ky., freight engine fireman, seriously injured in the C. H. & D. wreck in Irvington, is dead at the Deaconess hospital. Hutcheson's death brings the total number of victims to sixteen. Fifteen were either killed or died at the hospital the day of the wreck.

Auto Overturned on Curve.

Hazleton, Ind., Nov. 22.—James B. Murphy, aged thirty-eight and unmarried, a millionaire oil operator of Philadelphia and Vincennes, was killed in an automobile accident near here. Mr. Murphy was one of a party of four oil men going from Mt. Carmel, Ill., to Vincennes. The car skidded on a sharp curve and turned over.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Cablegrams from China announce that the republic is preparing to go to war with Russia for the possession of Mongolia.

Andre Frey, the well-known French aviator, was killed at Rheims. While flying his aeroplane collapsed and he fell 150 feet.

The Carnegie foundation intends to grant a pension of $25,000 a year to ex-presidents of the United States and their unmarried widows.

The German government, it is said, intends to create a monopoly in the tobacco trade on the same lines as its monopoly in the petroleum industry.

Rebels in Mexico raided an American-owned ranch at Maguay, sixty miles west of Durango, and all the buildings on the property were burned to the ground.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand, the heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, has gone to Berlin to hold a conference with the German emperor, presumably regarding the Balkan war.

Stanton J. Peele, chief justice of the United States court of claims, will soon retire from that bench and Henry Sherman Boutwell of Chicago, former member of the house of representatives and now minister to Switzerland, will succeed him.

Oscar King Davis, former Washington correspondent, who was identified with Colonel Roosevelt's campaign, will have charge of the new permanent headquarters of the Progressive party to be opened in Washington about the first of the year.

RESUMES STORY OF DYNAMITING

Ortie McManigal Takes Up Thread of Narrative.

HE GIVES ADDITIONAL DETAILS

Self-Confessed Dynamiter Tells Jury in Federal Court How, Acting Under Instructions From Iron Workers' Headquarters, He Went to the Coast and Pulled Off Llewellyn Plant "Job" as Christmas Gift to "Old Man."

Indianapolis, Nov. 22.—When he resumed his place on the witness stand it was an interesting story that Ortie E. McManigal told to the jury in the dynamiting case. When on the stand last week he detailed circumstances attending his hunting trip in the woods of Wisconsin, and it was there that he picked up the thread of his story. Just before the hunting party started to leave for home witness said they were shooting at an old dishpan as a target. Turning to McManigal, J. B. McNamara handed him the dishpan and asked him to hold it at arm's length while he (McNamara) took a shot at it. "You go to hell," said McManigal. "I know what you want," he said. He did not propose to place himself in a position where he might be "accidentally" shot. They broke camp Dec. 2, said McManigal, but J. B. and the witness did not go back to Chicago together.

Witness further testified that on Dec. 11, 1910, J. B. McNamara wanted witness to go out to the coast and blow up the T. G. auxiliary building, the Baker iron works and the Llewellyn iron works. Witness told him things were too hot out there and he did not think it wise to go. He finally consented to go and J. B. and witness went to the cache at Beech Grove, east of Indianapolis, and got twelve quarts of nitroglycerine and brought it in with them. McNamara paid witness $200 in advance and told him not to see anybody while he was in Los Angeles.

The witness returned to Chicago and left that city for Los Angeles on the night of Dec. 13, 1910. He found men day and night at work on the Times auxiliary building and the Baker iron works was heavily guarded. He concluded that there was too much risk, both at the Baker plant and at the Times auxiliary, and he then visited the Llewellyn plant. There he arranged four quarts of the explosive in the shipping room and attached the batteries so as to cause the explosion at 2 o'clock on the morning of Dec. 25, that "it would be a Christmas present for the old man" (Tveitmo).

He then took a train for San Francisco and the next day went around to see Eugene Clancy and inquired for Tveitmo. He then produced a paper with an account of the Llewellyn explosion and remarked as he pointed to it: "I see there was something doing last night. When you see Tveitmo you tell him that the man who was to bring him the Christmas gift was here and that he is safe and on his way back east."

The witness testified that on Jan. 13 he received a telegram from J. J. McNamara asking him to come to this city at once. Witness did so and he and J. B. went to headquarters and found J. J. in a very bad humor because the Times auxiliary building and the Baker iron works jobs had not been pulled off.

SENT TO PRISON

Former City Clerk of Gary Confessed to Perjury.

Crown Point, Ind., Nov. 22.—Harry Moose, former city clerk of Gary, who confessed perjury recently, was sentenced to state's prison in the Lake county circuit court. His sentence was made indeterminate for a period of six months to five years.

Moose told Judge Mahon that he made his confession because of a troubled conscience. Moose was the principal witness against Mayor T. E. Knotts and five accused aldermen in the bribery cases in which Thomas B. Dean, the prosecuting witness, sprang ditograph conversations on the accused men, whom he declared, he bribed to pass a public utility ordinance. Moose was city clerk at that time.

Woman Demands Damages.

Indianapolis, Nov. 22.—Suit for $10,000 damages for personal injuries has been brought in superior court by Alma Hartsock against the city of Indianapolis and the contractors who erected the grandstand for the Marshall notification meeting Aug. 20. The plaintiff alleges that she was seriously injured when the grandstand collapsed. This is the second suit resulting from the accident, in which more than a score of persons were injured.

Birth Rate Declining.

Indianapolis, Nov. 22.—There were more than 200 fewer babies born in Indiana during October than in September, according to figures made public by the state board of health. The births in October were 4,313, of which 2,211 were boys and 2,102 were girls. In September 4,517 babies were born, and the rate was 20.1 to each one thousand population. Last month the rate dwindled to 18.6.

YOUNG WIFE IS FOUND INSANE

Judge Sends Mrs. S. J. Winchester, Who Was Here With Husband, to Asylum.

"REVEREND" ASKED INQUIRY

His Son, Founder of "Society" is Still Under Arrest—Experience In Connersville.

Mrs. Edna Hubbard Winchester, fourth wife of "Rev." Winchester, of the anti-white slave traffic association, was declared to be of unsound mind by a jury in Judge Tracy's division of the Kenton Circuit Court, at Covington, Ky., yesterday. The examination as to her mental condition was the result of a request to Humane Officer Al Cherrington by "Rev." Winchester to have an investigation of his present domestic difficulties. The young woman was ordered taken to Lakeland Asylum.

Although "Colonel" S. Winchester, of Cincinnati, demanded an immediate trial at Terre Haute on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses the judge of the City Court, postponed the case of the man who represented himself as head of the "American and International Association for the Prevention of the White Slave Traffic."

Meanwhile the police are investigating Winchester's operations in Terre Haute. Several manufacturing and business concerns reported they had contributed. They said the "Colonel" presented a list of Terre Haute ames which he represented as contributors. The police obtained this list and say they found that the persons indicated had not paid money to the "cause."

"Colonel" Winchester is the son of the "Rev." S. J. Winchester who was here last summer conducting a tent meeting, and who aroused considerable resentment among neighbors because of his cruel treatment of his wife.

Connersville interest in the difficulties which have overtaken this man is peculiarly strong for he spent some time in Connersville last spring, conducting alleged religious meetings in a tent, like he did here.

"Rev." Winchester's stay in Connersville was not entirely pleasant. Three successive night according to his statements, thieves crept into his tent and stole parts of his wardrobe. The last visit left the evangelist destitute of trousers, in which plight he sat in his tent half the forenoon following before he summoned the necessary courage to call some passer-by to his aid.

ministry. But each time his wife has found him out and on more than one occasion has caused him to lose good charges by the stories she is said to have circulated among the members of his new-found congregations. One of these charges was in Missouri and at the time Mr. Hawthorne had to leave it was getting a salary of $1,000.

For some time Mrs. Hawthorne and the two children have been making their home in Howard county, and according to statements made here by Mr. Hawthorne, his wife had told him several months ago that he might go his way and she would trouble him no more.

It was this alleged arrangement that brought Mr. Hawthorne among his former friends again, and he had been in the Gwynneville community for several weeks.

century. China is trying to bestir herself, and the sweet voice of Jesus is the cause.

"Only one element of all these has wrought the difference between these two blood countries. That is because Christ was preached to the English in England, and accepted and just now the word is being preached to the people of India, granting even the difference in the climate.

"How can we, then, believe that Christianity is the result of our civilization and that our civilization is not the result of Christianity, when history stands in the way?"

The Rev. Mr. Yocum told of men who had maintained that Christianity was merely the result of the civilization of this age, and not contrary, and who had been pushed to prove their assertions. He recited a story from history of two different men who attempted to uphold such declarations by introducing modern methods of living without the aid of Christianity, where it had never been taught. In each case, he said, the men were compelled to admit that they were in the wrong that a people could not be raised to a higher plane of living without first having been converted to Christianity because they had no desire for better things.

"All that we are," exclaimed the Rev. Mr. Yocum, "as a nation today we owe to Christ and those missionaries, who, in 596, found their way over into England and preached the word of God to our forefathers.

"If we expect to continue to improve, we must cling to Him. We must carry the Gospel to the negroes and the mountaineers of the south and to the people of the west, and rid ourselves of the running sore, the Mormon menace."

In beautiful language, the minister recited the story of a preacher who once had a dream on a bright Christmas morning. He dreamed that he was in a land without Christ. His dream covered many instances in which it was shown how much Christianity had been for the world, and how the world would be without it.

"Ah! The Debt of America to Christ!" exclaimed the Christian pastor, "We can repay it only by blotting out these sins of which we have heard this week and put into the hands of our home mission societies ample funds to reach the heart of every person out of Christ."

cently, Wanted in Kokomo.

The Rev. S. M. Hawthorne, formerly pastor of the Gwynneville Christian church who figured in the sensational escapade at Gwynneville two years ago last summer when he fled before charges of his wife that he was too intimate with women of his congregation, was arrested yesterday on a bench warrant from the Howard county circuit court at the home of David Wicker, west of Arlington, in Rush county, and taken to Kokomo to answer to the charge of failure to support his wife and children.

The Rev. Mr. Hawthorne was sick in bed when the sheriff of Shelby county, to whom the bench warrant was sent, called at the Wicker home, but he was able to go with the sheriff. The Rev. Mr. Hawthorne made no objection to having the papers served on him although the Shelby county sheriff had no authority to do so in Rush county.

Because of reverses, the Rev. Mr. Hawthorne was compelled to resort to manual labor in the fields to make his bread and butter. He has been shucking corn for Mr. Wicker. It is said that he has been reduced to such circumstances several times within the last year or so. He is a very brilliant pastor and still has many staunch friends in the western part of this county and the eastern part of Shelby.

Trouble began in earnest for him two years ago last summer when his wife became jealous of him on account of his relations toward women of his congregation. Mr. Hawthorne insisted that the visits he paid the members of his congregation were for the purpose of increasing the effectiveness of the work of the church and that there was nothing wrong in the relations of him and any of the members of his flock.

But Mrs. Hawthorne refused to believe that his associations with some of the women were for any other than immoral purposes and the quarrel between them became so warm that Mr. Hawthorne finally fled from Gwynneville. Subsequently he returned to his wife and two children and the family then left Gwynneville notwithstanding.

Mr. Hawthorne was assured by nearly all of the members of his congregation that he might continue in charge of the pulpit. There were very few people in Gwynneville who lost faith in the man. He was expecting to preach from the pulpit of the church at that place this evening.

The story of his troubles from the time he left Gwynneville to his re-appearance there a few days ago is a long one. Time and again he has tried to live with his wife and support his children, but all reports regarding the troubles of the couple indicate that his wife has made life a continual torture for him.

Several times, according to stories of their disagreements, he has left home and gone to other fields in the hope of continuing his work in the

DUCK HUNTING NO GOOD

Nimrods Say Rabbits Will be Plentiful All Winter.

Local hunters say there has been too much dry weather this fall to make duck and geese shooting any good in this particular locality. Geese and ducks have been flying over nearly every day, but because there is no water in the fields they do not stop here. Nimrods say that the rabbits will be plentiful this winter though they can not be tracked very easily now. Other game, as a rule, is scarce, hunters say.

Margaret Dunwoody is Sentenced to Indiana Girls School in Juvenile Court Today.

SHE HAS BEEN OUT ON PAROLE

Margaret Dunwoody, age fifteen years, who has been a ward of the juvenile court since a recent investigation of the court into the life of a number of boys and girls in Rushville, was sent to the Indiana School for Girls at Clermont today by Judge John A. Tittsworth acting as juvenile judge.

The Dunwoody girl was allowed to go on parole recently on the theory that she might live a different life. She and Harry Galliger were arrested by the police Monday night and Galliger was fined for association.

She was taken into court this morning, and it is reported that she broke down and told something of the sordid life she has lived although she is but a whisp of a girl. She was not sent to Clermont with the Weevie girl a few weeks ago on the advice of the prosecutor.

CIRCUIT COURT TO BE DARK SATURDAY

Only One Case is Disposed of Today
And That One is Dis-
missed.

The circuit court will be "dark" tomorrow, Judge Blair left this afternoon for Shelbyville and will not return until Monday. Two cases were set for tomorrow—Bennett against Dagler and Weaver against the board of commissioners—but it is understood that they were not ready for trial.

The case of Jessie Hart Woodfill against Grover C. Louisa and Casper Jones to set aside a mortgage as fraudulent was dismissed by the plaintiff today and the costs paid.

The court rendered judgment for William Dagler against Joe Christman on the verdict of the jury for $154.80. The Greeley-Hooten case, which has been set for trial a number of times, has been postponed again until December 9. The note suit of C. T. Williams against Alma and Charles Wilson for $1,500 has been continued on the defendants' motion.

TO CHANGE TIME ON LOCAL BRANCH

Rumor Has it That L. E. & W. Rail-
road Proposes to Better Train
Service on Rushville Division.

AGENT RECEIVES NO NOTICE

Plan is to Reverse Present Run of
"Cannon Ball"—Mail and Passenger Service Deplorable.

Rumors that the L. E. & W., railway was planning to change the time of train service on the local division have been heard here for some time but as yet no official notice has been received by the agent. John Rutledge, the local agent, has heard of the proposed change but has not received any notice.

The present train service is very unsatisfactory especially to the people of the northern part of the county. The Newcastle Times in speaking of the proposed change in time says:

The dissatisfaction with the service on the Newcastle-Rushville division, does not decrease, but if any difference, is more acute. Especially between Dunreith and Rushville, where there is no traction service, the people living along the line of the railroad have little chance for getting away from home and back again the same day. This they might endure if they could get their mails with any certainty or regularity, but it requires two or three days to get a letter from Newcastle of Rushville to a patron on the rural route out of Mays.

Ever since the double daily service was discontinued, several years ago, there has been much complaint, and very justly, it seems. Now that the company is requiring the engine and crew of the one train to do the switching and yard work at both Newcastle and Rushville, there is even greater delay and irregularity in the passenger and mail service than ever before. It is understood that the people along the line, and some in Rushville, have made up their minds to take legal action, having failed to accomplish anything through their appeals to the State Railway Commission.

There is a sort of a round-house rumor that when the change of time is made it will be found that the "Rushville Limited" run is reversed, and that the engine and crew will lay over at Rushville instead of Newcastle, as at present. Should this be done it would at least give vastly improved mail service to the towns along the line, provided the train leaves Rushville about 6:30 o'clock in the morning. It would also aid in the dispatch of yard work and switching in Newcastle, as the factories need this work done in the forenoon, in most cases.

Most of the townships along the line of this road voted liberal subsidies toward the original construction of the line, but the present generation does not feel that it is getting very much in return for what was paid more than thirty years ago.

FAKE METHODS WERE USED HERE

Magazine Solicitors, in bad at Con-
nersville, Worked Same Graft
in This City.

ASKED AID FOR EDUCATION

Claimed Kin to Local People and
Were Obtaining Money to go to College.

Several days ago two young men "worked" this city obtaining subscriptions for magazines. The same two young men came to grief in Connersville yesterday when they were arrested and fined for provoke. The men passed under the names of M. Green and Alfred Tobias and will be remembered by many women here because in their eagerness to secure subscriptions, claimed relationship, with prominent Rushville people.

In one or two instances it is known that they claimed to be graduates from the local high school and were striving by the sale of the magazines to secure money on which to make their way through college. The fake plea hardly ever failed to work and while the magazines may be worth all that was paid, the manner of obtaining the money was not quite legitimate.

In Connersville the two solicitors were very insistent with their prospective customers and became so abusive in their demands that one woman filed an affidavit charging provoke. The two paid their fines and left for liberty.

There has been, during the last few months, a considerable lot of bogus canvassing for magazine subscriptions here. Young fellows who visit homes with a show of energy, have explained that they were poor boys, working their way to education. Tobias, while here stated in trying to obtain subscriptions that he desired to attend medical college. The good heartedness of many women, having been appealed to resulted in subscribing to magazines, which they did not really want, and which, as it happened in numerous cases, they did not get. One instance is known, in which a woman subscribed for three magazines and has not yet received a single issue of any of them.

DIES ON LOAD OF FODDER

Needham Hawk, Age 55, Expires
Suddenly Near Morristown.

Needham Hawk, age 55 years, a well-known Morristown citizen, dropped dead yesterday on a load of fodder. He was helping to shred fodder on the farm of O. O. Olinger, a mile north of Morristown which adjoins the W. M. Bassett farm on which Mr. Hawk lived. Mr. Hawk was on a load of fodder and dropped dead without a moment's notice, falling down on the fodder. He suffered an attack of heart trouble previous to this fatal one, but it was thought they were nothing serious. The deceased leaves a widow and four grown children.

Electric Lines Must Equip For It,
Says President Henry.

That interurbans must get away from the street-railway business and provide equipment on the steam railway basis was the comment of C. L. Henry, president of the I. & C., at the fall meeting of the Central Electric Railway Association at Columbus, O., yesterday. He believes that roadbeds should be so reconstructed that a greater part of the freight business may be handled by electric lines. Declaring that only about 15 per cent. of gross receipts come from freight business, he said that 75 to 85 per cent. should come from this source.

Farmers do not Remember Time
When Conditions Were Better
For Fall Task.

WILL BE NO MOULDY FODDER

Corn is being husked in Rush county in a lively manner. An early start was made in this work by those farmers who realized that the sooner the fodder was stacked close together in the field, or under cover in the barn, the better fodder they will have and the greater benefit their live stock will gain from it. It has been good weather so far for corn husking and the corn has turned out exceedingly well in most cases. A poor corn crop this season is the exception. Last season's mouldy corn fodder will be long remembered. And now that such fine, bright fodder is being secured, farmers will certainly be careful to see that it is well cared for.

One Round Trip.

The position of the board of county commissioners at Indianapolis allowing a grand or petit jury member mileage fees for only one trip from his home to the court house, and one trip from the court house to his home, was upheld by Judge Remster of the Marion circuit court. The decision was given in the case filed against the commissioners by John T. Cotten of Lawrence township, who asked $107.10. Other members of the same grand jury also have filed similar suits. Under the decision of the court the grand jurors or petit jurors will get but a small part of the amount claimed and all counties in the state are affected.

It is to Carry Gospel to Unsaved in America, Declares the Rev.

C. M. Yocum.

LAST OF HOME MISSIONS MEETS

Calls on History to Prove Civilization is Result of Christianity
And Not Vice Versa.

It remained for the Rev. C. M. Yocum, pastor of the Main Street Christian church, to climax the home mission week, which has been observed by the Protestant churches here with union services, with a sermon last night at the St. Paul M. E. church on the subject, "Our Country's Debt to Christ," in which he reviewed the achievements of the English-speaking race and showed how the civilization could arise from nothing other than the refining influence of Christianity.

The Rev. Mr. Yocum traced the history of the English-speaking race from the time the family of Jacob divided, part of it going to India and the other westward to England, and subsequently to the United States, and recalled how the western division of the family, which had felt the touch of Christianity, had outstripped the world with its achievements while the other branch had retrograded rather than progressed.

"Not until the sixth century was any effort made to Christianize the English-speaking race," said the minister. "Gregory, while wandering through the slave market in Rome, saw a flaxen-haired people and asked them their names. They replied they were Angles, but he exclaimed they were angels. He vowed to go to the home of Angles with the story of Christ, but he was made Pope. However, in 596, six hundred years after the coming of Christ, he sent a band of missionaries to England. Through the influence of a Christian king and his wife, Christianity spread.

"That was only 1300 years ago, yet marvelous things have occurred since then. Do you want a miracle to prove the worth of Christianity? In 1300 years a race of people has been raised from naked savagery to the finest civilization ever known.

"Come on across the ocean with me. When America was discovered all Europe was in the grasp of Rome. God lead his people to this land that it might be his own peculiar possession. When the Declaration of Independence was signed, the divine blessing of God was invoked; when the first president was inaugurated, he laid his hand on the book of God."

The Rev. Mr. Yocum pointed out that the English-speaking people stand pre-eminent above all nations; that they control one-third of the world's possessions; that they own most of the diamond and gold mines in the world and that their great armies and navies practically dictate the politics of the world.

"We have outstripped the world in all things," he continued, "and the most recent inventions of the world are the result of the genius of the English-speaking people. China has retrograded during this period and India of the twentieth century, which is peopled with our first cousins, having the same blood and the same inheritance, is the India of the first century."

The Doctrine of Good Shoes May Be Profitably Preached Only By a Good Shoe Man

Frankly, we'd hate to be in the "near shoe" business! We'd hate to carry lines of shoes that sell only because the price is small. Somehow, we feel that it would be about as creditable to circulate bad money as to sell bad shoes. Perhaps the selling of poor shoes will stop, sometime. It ought to stop.

The wages of farm labor is the subject of a bulletin issued by the United States department of agriculture. It contains the details of the latest of a series of nineteen investigations covering a period of forty-four years, and a summary of the preceding investigations is included in the bulletin.

In contracts of hiring by the year, with board, the wage rate of men a month increased from $10.09 in 1866 to $18.05 in 1909, or a gain of 78.9 per cent. The gain from 1890 to 1909 was 35.8 per cent.

The wage rate of men a day, with board, for day labor, were ascertained throughout the period, and were found to increase from $1.04 for harvest work in 1866 to $1.43 in 1909, or 37.5 per cent. From 1890 to 1909 the increase was 32.4 per cent., and from 1899 to 1909, 30.0 per cent.

For labor, other than harvest, with board, the wage rates of men a day increased from 64 cents in 1866 to $1.03 in 1901, or 60.9 per cent. The percentage of increase from 1890 to 1909 was 43.1, and from 1909 it was 37.3.

Among the geographic divisions of states in 1909 the highest rate of wages a month in hiring by the year, with board, is found in the western group, where the average was $31.30. Next in order was the north central division with $22.22; third in order was the north Atlantic division with $20.73; the south Atlantic states had an average of $14.25, and lowest of all was the average of the south Atlantic states, $13.10.

Rates of wages, the bulletin says, do not express the real wages received by the farm laborer in this country. Apart from the changes in the purchasing power of money wages there are various extras that supplement wage rates. In this investigation an attempt was made to get information with regard to the value of supplementary allowances. It appears that the average monthly value of the dwelling, garden and other appurtenances, the use of which was a part of the real wages paid, without board, in 1909, ranged from $1.75 to $5, through the United States, and the amount when wages were paid, with board, ranged from $1 to $4.50.

The average value of feed for cow, horse, swine or poultry a month ranged from $1.11 to $3.11; the value of pasturage for cow, horse or swine ranged from 65 cents to $1.61; the value of fire wood for family use and the team to haul it, ranged from $1.06 to $2.39; the occasional use of team for hauling was valued at 48 cents to $1.70, and the occasional use of horse and buggy, probably reaching as high a frequency as weekly use, ranged from 87 cents to $2.37.

The estimated value of the fruit given to the family of the laborers was reported to be worth from 80 cents to $1.64 a month; the value of the stabling for the laborer's horse, if he had one, was estimated to be 45 cents to $2 a month, and the laundry service for the laborer was estimated to range from 75 cents to $2 a month.

The increase in the purchasing power in the wage rates of farm laborers as compared with that of workingmen was ascertained by the bureau of labor. The purchasing power of wages, in terms of retail prices of food from 1890 to 1909, is regarded as being 100.0. For the period 1899 to 1907, the purchasing power in the case of workingmen increased only to 101.4, but, in the case of farm laborers the purchasing power of wages a month in hiring by the year and season increased to 110.1; the purchasing power of day rates of wages for harvest work increased to 111.5, and of day rates for other than harvest to 115.2. Notwithstanding the increase of retail prices of food, the rates of wages of farm labor have increased in degrees sufficient to make as a new result a substantial rate of increase.

The wages of women for domestic labor on farm receives attention. This subject was first investigated in 1902. In hiring by the season, the wage rates of the domestic labor of women on the farm are higher than in hiring by the year. The monthly rate by the season was $9.71 in 1902; $11.95 in 1906, and $12.02 in 1909. The western division of states has an average rate far above the average for the United States in 1909, namely $21.55; the rates for the North Atlantic and north central divisions are a little above the national average, while in the south central division the average is $9.92; and in the South Atlantic division, $8.25. The foregoing rates are with board.

When the domestic labor of women was employed by the day, the day rate of wages was 62 cents in 1902; 76 cents in 1906, and 77 cents in 1909.

The report declares that in farm household matters the situation is acute with regard to the supply of hired labor. Country girls as well as city seem to regard household labor for hire as undesirable. Joined with this fact is the other one that the women of the farmers' family are neither able nor willing to repeat the manual labor performances of their grandmothers on the farm. Besides this, the farmer's standard of living has risen, certainly on the medium and better sort of farms in the north and west; and in a perceptible degree the women of the farmer's family have engaged in social functions which are beginning to be incompatible with the performances of household labor without the aid of a servant. The social obligations undertaken by them are for the Grange, the women's clubs, the Maccabees, the Women's Christian Temperance union, the local church, the farmer's club, and a list that might be much extended.

The old-time domestic industries are all but forgotten. The women on the farm make no more soap, candles or lye, and so on with a long list of domestic products of former days; it is rare that one of the younger women knows how to knit. Throughout the large areas the price of the housewife in great store of preserves, dried and pickled fruits, berries and vegetables exists chiefly in history, and dependence is placed mostly upon the local store for the products of the cannery and the evaporator.

It is protested that the frequently published statement that farm life has made the women of the farm especially prone to insanity is a calumny. There is no statistical authority for the assertion, and the author of this bulletin has endeavored for nearly a score of years to discover the originator of the fabrication, with indications that the irresponsible author was for many years a popular writer on domestic subjects.

SUNDAY SCHOOL. LETTING LIGHT IN ON METHODS

Lesson VIII.—Fourth Quarter,
For Nov. 24, 1912.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Mark ix, 1-13.
Memory Verses, 5, 10—Golden Text,
Luke ix, 35 (R. V.)—Commentary
Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This lesson, like the last, is recorded by Matthew and Luke as well as by Mark. It was the one occasion on which the glory which was always in Him was allowed to shine through in this particular way. In the tabernacle and in the temple the glory of God was always in the holy of holies above the mercy seat, between the cherubim, but the veil concealed it—the veil which was rent in twain from the top to the bottom in the midst when He died and which, we are told in Heb. x, 20, represented His flesh or body. John says that "the word was made flesh and tabernacled among us, and we beheld His glory."

As he makes no record of the transfiguration, possibly he refers to it in this saying, as well as to His whole life on earth. Peter undoubtedly refers to the transfiguration when he says, "We made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and were eyewitnesses of His majesty," for he mentions the holy mount and the words from the Father (John i, 14; i Pet. i, 16-18).

In connection with the coming of Christ in glory which He mentioned in last week's lesson He said that some of those who stood there would not taste of death till they had seen the kingdom of God come with power or the Son of Man coming in His kingdom. Then after six intervening days, or, as Luke says, about eight days, He took Peter and James and John into a high mountain, apart by themselves, and as He prayed He was transfigured before them. It seems to me that the wonder was not that the glory now shone through the veil of His flesh, but that it was always there, yet concealed. But it was, as to His whole life, the time of His appearing as one to us, sin excepted (Heb. ii, 14).

His face did shine as the sun, and His raiment was white and glistening, shining, white as the light, white as snow. When Moses came down from the mount the skin of his face shone so that he had to wear a veil while he talked with the people (Ex. xxxiv, 29-35). That must have been reflected light. He did not wear the veil when he went in to talk with the Lord and possibly only after he had done talking with the people. Stephen's face seems to have reflected something of the same light (Acts vi, 15). How wonderful the statements concerning us in Matt. xiii, 43; i John iii, 2. Consider for a little these two men from heaven who are talking with Jesus and whom the three favored disciples saw and seemed to know, for Peter mentions them by name.

It was over 1,000 years since Moses died and was buried on Mount Nebo (Deut. xxxiv) and perhaps 900 years since Elijah was taken from the side of Elijah on the east of Jordan by a whirlwind and horses and chariot of fire (ii Kings ii, 2). Yet here they are, alive and well and recognized, as no doubt we shall know all in the glory without introductions. They talked with Jesus about His decease, which He should accomplish at Jerusalem (Luke ix, 31).

By virtue of that atoning death they and all the redeemed from Abel onward had enjoyed centuries of bliss, as it were, on a promissory note now about to be paid. None are in glory now ever can be except by virtue of that precious blood in due time shed on Golgotha. It is the blood that maketh atonement, and without shedding of blood there is no remission of sins (Lev. xvii, 11; Heb. ix, 22). The disciples were heavy with sleep (Luke ix, 32), and so it was also in Gethsemane. Are we not all in a measure asleep to the great things of God? How often we talk as foolishly as Peter, who suggested the three tabernacles, not knowing what to say.

That is a good word for us, "Awake, thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light" (Eph. ii, 14). As Peter spoke a cloud overshadowed them, and a voice came out of the cloud, saying: "This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased. Hear ye Him." And they saw no man any more save Jesus only with themselves (verses 7, 8; Matt. xxvii, 5-8). To Him give all the prophets witness, and so it must be Jesus only. The Lord alone shall be exalted. See now the kingdom in miniature—the Lord Jesus glorified and with Him the risen saints represented by Moses and the translated saints represented by Elijah. The three disciples may represent all Israel made righteous and the multitude at the foot of the hill the people to be blessed when the kingdom comes.

Blessed are all who see the glory of His kingdom, endeavor now to walk worthy of it and live to hasten it. As they came down from the mount He charged them to tell no one of the wonders they had seen till the Son of Man should be risen from the dead, but just what that saying meant not one of them could tell (verse 10), for they did not believe that He was to die. They remembered some of the last words of Malachi concerning Elijah and spoke of them, and Jesus indorsed them and said that they would surely be fulfilled, but that there had been already a fulfillment in John the Baptist.

Aldermanic Commission Investigating New York Police.

SOME INTERESTING DETAILS

Testimony Tending to Implicate Police Force in Connivance With Burglars For Purposes of Gain Brought Out in Hearing Now in Progress in the Metropolis—Some of the Witnesses Take Immunity Bath.

New York, Nov. 22.—Refusing to sign a waiver of immunity for testimony he might give before the aldermanic commission, the committee excused Second Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty without examination. Witnesses questioned by Emory R. Buckner, chief counsel for the committee, and Harold S. Deming, assistant counsel, had testified that the second deputy police commissioner had taken part in framing up a burglary in a loft building across from Grace church on Broadway, the object of which was the capture of certain loft burglars. Testimony charged Mr. Dougherty with assaulting prisoners whom he was interrogating at police headquarters. The testimony bringing in the deputy commissioner's name was given largely by convicts, an admitted stool pigeon and confessing robbers, and the refusal of Mr. Dougherty to waive immunity came as an apparent surprise to the counsel for the committee.

"I have not done anything, and I don't want any immunity, and I won't waive it," remarked the deputy commissioner when he was asked to sign a waiver. "I think it is an insult to ask a man to waive immunity."

The first actual testimony of money passing to policemen to be introduced in the present investigation was given by Harry Sapiro, proprietor of the African Feather company. He already had testified regarding the burglary in his place, and had told of receiving some $1,500 from the National Surety company for feathers still missing after the police returned the loot. The policemen themselves had told of capturing the thieves at the door and taking all the loot to the station house.

Before Sapiro took the stand his lawyer insisted upon his receiving immunity for his testimony. This was granted. Sapiro then said that he had given $175 to Lieutenant John Glynn after the burglary, the detective first asking for $500. Witness understood that the $175 would be made about $25 apiece for the detectives engaged on the case. The money was paid, witness said, in a saloon.

Lieutenant Glynn, the detective accused by Sapiro, signed the immunity waiver before testifying. He said Detective Clare had introduced Levy as Detective Daly's "stool" to witness, and said Levy had some information. Levy told him there was a job coming off in the feather place and Glynn says he asked Levy if Levy was in on the job, and the latter replied he was not. Glynn got permission to put detectives in a building across the street and with his men watched for the burglars. He said he didn't see anybody enter the building, but saw the men when they came out, and grabbed them. He was sure Levy was not there at the time of the robbery. Glynn denied that Levy had told him he was going to let the burglars into the building adjoining, and he had no idea Levy was arranging the robbery.

The burglars, according to testimony given by Levy at a previous hearing, were let into the adjoining building by him and blew a hole with dynamite in the wall, thereby getting access to Sapiro's loft. Levy had further testified he had seen one of the detectives engaged in the case, carrying feathers out.

With regard to the charge made by Sapiro, Glynn admitted meeting Sapiro in the saloon. He denied having asked Sapiro for money or receiving any money from him. One of the prisoners in the case, Goldstein, had testified before the committee that Glynn called on him in the Tombs and said he would get him off with a light sentence if he would bring Levy into the job. Glynn admitted calling on Goldstein in the Tombs, but said it was in response to word from Goldstein that he could give him some information.

It Finally Got Him.

What Next?

The Democratic leaders in Congress favor the enactment of a law, in the short session this winter, giving independence to the Philippines. They aim to get a measure of this sort out of the way before President-elect Wilson enters office, as they believe that he will have more than enough work on his hands during the time, short or long, in which the Democrats contrive to retain control of Congress. Independence for the Philippines was urged in the Baltimore platform, and presumably, is favored by Mr. Wilson. Unquestionably it is not favored by the present president, and is not likely to get a majority in the Senate. If Philippine independence comes the Democratic party will be compelled to shoulder responsibility for it, and it will have to come in the Congress which enters existence on March 4th next.

Mr. Cleveland did a piece of flag furling in the early part of 1904, when he lowered it in Hawaii, after President Harrison, in the latter days of his term, had set it up. This was one of the acts of the first part of Cleveland's second term which drove the Democrats out of power just as soon as the people could get at them, and Cleveland had a Republican Congress during his last two years in office. In 1898, while the Spanish war was under way, the country formally annexed Hawaii, and it has been ours ever since. Its possession by us has not only aided its people, but it has added much to our resources, and has given us an outpost in the Pacific which may be of large strategic value to us in the conflicts of the future.

This Philippine elimination programme by the Democrats may give rise to the query as to what they may do to other pieces of outlying territory. Will they restore Hawaii to its former status, and undo the work of development which has gone on with considerable activity in the fourteen years in which it has been under the flag? What will become of Porto Rico in the new dispensation? Will that island also be cast out? By treaty we have a protectorate over the republics of Cuba and Panama. Will this be allowed to stand through Democratic days? How about the Panama Canal? Will we be compelled to give up our lease on the canal zone and hand the control over to the little isthmian republic, or invite Columbia in to regain its hold on that region? Some picturesque possibilities in the way of "anti-imperialism" are involved in that Democratic victory the other day. Even our title to Alaska may be challenged.

We feel that many people of Rushville and Rush county will join with us in complimenting the majority of the stockholders of the Rush County Fair Association for voting at the annual meeting last week to do away with the pass system for stockholders. It was an act of sacrifice and one which deserves commendation. All the revenue stockholders of the association have ever received from their investment has been an annual pass to the fair. Yet they are willing to give up even that for the good of the Rush county fair. We commend their sacrifice to stockholders who voted against the measure and hope that they will emulate the majority at the meeting in redoubling their efforts to make the fair a success.

The Columbia City Commercial Mail gives the following timely advice to would-be postmasters: "Kind friends, the fellows who has the making of postmasters and sich don't always, by several jugsful, consider either the quantity of the letters and written endorsements a candidate presents." The nod or wink or word of assent from certain men in the community more frequently does the business—when coming from the right source and discreetly presented. It is the pull—the drag, dear boys, that knocks the persimmons. Don't forget to bear down hard on the "drag."

The "seven little governors" who first led the Roosevelt campaign this year by pledging support have come to a bad political end, and the newspapers comment upon it. Stubbs of Kansas, is defeated, and so are Carey of Wyoming, Glascock of West Virginia, and Aldrich of Nebraska, Osborn of Michigan, and Bass of New Hampshire, failed to be renominated even, and Hadley of Missouri, is with the Republican party in its greatest defeat. It was a hard time for the Moose!

Under the Democratic tariff to be passed shortly the Canadians expect to get greater advantages than were provided in the reciprocity bill, and at the same time Canada will maintain its own protective duties unchanged.

Senator Sutherland has a magazine article on "What shall we do with the Constitution?" The first thing apparently would be to put an ad in the Lost Articles column and see what has become of it.

It is presumed that at the opening of the Panama Canal the Republican party will not be consigned to the gallery on the charge that it is not progressive.

AMUSEMENTS

The Princess program tonight will include two interesting dramas, "An Unseen Enemy" is a Biograph picture, telling a thrilling story and full of human interest. The other is a Vitagraph "The Hindoo Curse." Tomorrow night a Vitagraph "Popular Betty" will be featured.

A peculiar interest to Indians is the announcement of a play from the pen of its famous Author, Mr. Booth. Tarkington. On November 25th, 26th and 27th, English's opera house will offer Wm. T. Hodge in "The Man From Home." No play taken from the stories of Mr. Tarkington has won a higher place in theatrical offerings than this. From the time of its production until the present time it has never failed to appeal to capacity audiences, and Indianapolis and the surrounding territory will be glad to welcome it again. Mr. Hodge has a part that appeals strongly to every American and needless to say, he plays with all the feeling it demands, bring out both the humor and pathos.

William H. Crane is booked for an early appearance here, on November 28th, 29th and 30th, when he will be seen in the central character of Martha Morton's comedy, "The Senator Keeps House." The play has just completed a long engagement in the East. Mr. Crane will bring his original production and the metropolitan east with him for his local visit. The play is a comedy of the present, with all its located in Washington, D. C. The motive is more domestic than political, though there is naturally a flavor of politics in the telling of any story that centers about the life in the national capital. The leading figure is one that gives Mr. Crane every scope for the display of those talents which have endeared him for so many seasons to theatergoers throughout the country.

The Rev. J. B. Meacham, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, today sent a very unique invitation through the mails to regular and prospective members of the Men's Bible class of the Sunday school. It is as follows:

The men of the First Presbyterian church started on a tour through the Bible some time ago and issued free passes, good for 52 Sundays in the year and in all kinds of weather.

I remember seeing you get on one morning at 9:30, Presbyterian time. We started at "The Beginning," just before you got to the Garden of Eden. After a short stop with Adam and his wife, we set sail with Noah in his Ark. One hundred and fifty days later we landed on top of Mt. Ararat. Our next jaunt was southward to the home of Abraham, in Southern Babylonian. By caravan we took passage with him up the Euphrates river, by way of "Old Bagdad," through the city of Damascus to the land of Canaan, and down into Egypt and back.

In course of time we fell in with Jacob, Abraham's grandson. With him we took another trip to Egypt; this time in wagons, which Joseph sent to bring his father. In Egypt we witnessed the most cruel bondage of the children of Israel, till Moses appeared on the scene and took the kinks out of Pharaoh, the king, with his wonderful miracles. With Moses as "Captain of the host" we started for the Promised Land in company with about three million liberated Israelites. We took the Wilderness road, by way of Mt. Sinai, where Moses received the Ten Commandments, built the Tabernacle and wrote Leviticus.

After arranging the line of march and taking the census we continued our journey northward until we got hung up in the "Wilderness" on account of unbelief and disobedience. Here we camped out for 40 years. Then with a new generation we took up our journey and came to the land of Moab, which lies east of the Jordan, in sight of the Land of Promise. Here Moses preached his last sermon and died. We had his burial last Sabbath.

Joshua, the son of Nun, is in charge now, and in three days we will cross the Jordan. We want you to be at the crossing next Sunday. If you should be sick, we will wait for you at Heshbon, near Mt. Nebo, where Moses died, and hope you will be able to take up the march the Sunday following. All the boys want you in the crowd. We don't want anybody to drop out, and will be disappointed if we have to proceed without you. We will renew your pass any time.

Basketball Game Tonight at Graham School "Gym."

The basketball season in Rushville will be formally opened tonight with the game between the Independents and Liberty. The contest will be played at the Graham school gymnasium. The local team is composed of former high school and independent players and is considered a fast aggregation. From the advance sale of tickets a large crowd will see the game. The Liberty is said to be capable of putting up a good game and although Rushville expects to win it will not be in an easy manner. Play will be called at 8 o'clock.

Opinion Held In Rome Concerning Signora Moschini.

Rome, Nov. 22.--Arrested last Saturday night while in a hotel with a naval lieutenant, on a charge made by her husband, Deputy Moschini, Signora Moschini, formerly Lulu Davis of Texas, has just been released from jail. Her counsel accompanied the American woman, who is believed generally to be the victim of persecution, to her hotel, where she was warmly greeted by the guests. Signora Moschini seemed to be weak and tired, but happy over the fact that she had secured her freedom, especially when she realized that owing to her husband's political and financial influence, she ran the risk of indefinite imprisonment.

In an interview after her release Signora Moschini said: "Last Saturday night I went to a moving picture show with Lieutenant Bellegrand and the soldatino Count Le Sage, who, I have now ascertained, was a detective employed by my husband merely to compromise me. When the show was over it was raining hard and I was drenched. As I was suffering from a sore throat, Le Sage proposed that we seek shelter at Lieutenant Bellegrand's house, which was done. Le Sage left the lieutenant and myself alone and hastened to inform the police, who came in and found that I had removed my shoes and was warming my feet at the fire. I had doffed my wet coat and replaced it with one of the lieutenant's. The police arrested us."

Domestic Quarrel Leads to Double Tragedy at Hammond.

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 22.--Frank Cravens, nineteen years old, son of Lincoln Cravens, a Hammond lawyer, formerly of Madison, shot his stepmother four times at her home here and then fired two bullets into his own body. Both will die.

Lincoln Cravens came to Hammond several years ago to be a law partner of Judge J. G. Ibach of the appellate court. When Mr. Ibach was elected Mr. Cravens took over his practice. Two years ago his son Frank suffered the loss of a leg in a railroad accident. Mr. Cravens's wife died and later he married again.

The stepmother and stepson did not agree on all things, and they quarreled just before the shooting. A maid employed in the house heard the quarrel and left the house. Neighbors heard the shooting and, rushing in, found the two bodies on the floor.

Not at Home to Photographers.

Hamilton, Bermuda, Nov. 22.--Governor Wilson is not at home to the photographers, who are amusing the natives by perching in the windows along Mr. Wilson's driving route. The president elect has not played golf yet and is spending much of his time sleeping.

Woman's Mysterious Disappearance.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 22.--Miss Norma Garvin, second daughter of ex-Governor F. L. C. Garvin, is missing from her home in Lonsdale, and fears are entertained for her safety. Miss Garvin is thirty-five years old.

Master of Forty Thieves.

New York, Nov. 22.--Investigation shows that "Henry Vogel," the man shot to death in a battle with detectives a few nights ago, was master of more than forty girls whom he trained and forced to steal for him.

Run Over by Car.

Logansport, Ind., Nov. 22.--William Bowers, aged thirty, a brakeman, was instantly killed when he was struck by a car of cars in the Panhandle yards. He is survived by a widow and one small child.

SAY THE ALLIES ASKED TOO MUCH

Turks Reject Terms Proposed for Armistice.

ORDER THE FIGHTING RENEWED

Consideration Proposed in Lieu of the Forced Entrance of Bulgarian Army into the Sultan's Capital Was Too Bitter a Pill For Ottoman Pride to Swallow, and Nazim Pasha's Army Was Again Forced Into the Open.

London, Nov. 22.--The troops of Nazim Pasha in the Tchataldja forts again have taken up their arms, the Turk having rejected the terms of the allies. And in Constantinople once more there comes the sound of artillery fire, telling the people of the sultan's city that the fighting is on again.

The action of the Ottoman government comes as no surprise to diplomats. The surrender of Adrianople, Scutari, Janina and Drebia and the evacuation of the Tchataldja lines, the terms under which the allies said they would forego their entrance into Constantinople, made too bitter a pill for the proud palate of the Ottoman.

The official announcement of the terms simply said: "The porte, finding the Bulgarian conditions for an armistice unacceptable, has ordered Nazim Pasha to resume military operations."

The grand vizier, Jamil Pasha, spoke bitterly of the harshness of the terms. He said that he had received them from the Russian ambassador, Turkey's acceptance of them was impossible, he said.

There comes word of a naval engagement between a Turkish cruiser and Bulgarian torpedo boats in the Black Sea, where each side claims the victory.

There is evidently fighting going on in the waters of the Marmora sea, for the sound of firing could be heard off the southern entrance of the Bosphorus in Constantinople.

Athens has received a dispatch telling of the victory of her troops over the defeated Turkish troops falling back from captured Monastir. The Greeks say they came up with and cut to pieces the rear guard and then pressed on to engage the main body near Florina, where there was a heavy battle. No details of the result of the fight has reached Athens.

GETTING TOGETHER

Europe Has No Desire For a General War Just Now.

Buda Pest, Nov. 22.--[Special Correspondence.]--Never since the beginning of the war has the outlook been less gloomy than today. Never have the official watchmen in their conning towers felt more hopeful of working things out to such a satisfactory issue as will leave Europe in peace and all the interested parties moderately discontented. Von Berchtold, the Austrian foreign minister, who will accompany his majesty to Vienna tomorrow, can on the homeward journey contemplate the future without any of the preoccupation which the situation inspired a couple of weeks ago.

The conviction that the danger of a European war is now infinitesimal is fast gaining ground in the chancelleries of Europe. Serbia is aware that the scope of her patriotic ambition is circumscribed by the legitimate interests of the great powers. She is also alive to the fact that Austria's policy toward her is actuated not, as alleged, by enmity, but by friendship, based on common interests, united efforts and mutual confidence.

Russia understands that Austria has made appreciable sacrifices to readjust her policy to the new order of things in southeastern Europe, and Austria readily recognizes the praiseworthy efforts made by the czar's advisers to prevent a breach of international peace. Italy and France, who entertained the idea that they would suffer commercially by the customs union which they fancied Austria was preparing to impose on Serbia, are beginning to realize that compulsion forms no part of Count Von Berchtold's methods, nor is an obligatory commercial union included among his political ends. In like manner Bulgaria has come to the conclusion that she had better lose no time in laying the foundation for the friendship of Roumania, who has deserved so well of all the Balkan states. Pourparlers to this effect have begun and M. Benet, the special Bulgarian representative, is expected shortly in Bucharest.

BELVA LOCKWOOD

Former Candidate For President Predicts Woman in White House.

That Is What Suffragists Now Are Predicting.

Philadelphia, Nov. 22.--Within the sacred confines of the "Cradle of Liberty" and within a few feet of the liberty bell, there has been read another declaration of independence, the declaration of woman's right to the ballot, and while it was the same declaration that was made at Seneca Falls, N. Y., in 1848, it was wildly applauded as the marking of a new epoch.

No convention was ever more spectacular. Silver haired and golden tongued Dr. Anna Shaw was everywhere prominent. Venerable Belva Lockwood was there, and she confidently predicted that within the next fifteen years, we should have a woman president of the United States.

There was an automobile street parade. Independence Square was packed when the old statehouse bell tolled out the hour, and Dr. Anna Shaw took the platform. Dr. Shaw took up the original Declaration of Independence and declared that it was not framed for Jew or Gentile, male or female, and that its framers had no idea of depriving women of their liberties and the right of suffrage. And the delegates to the national woman's suffrage convention cheered as they never had cheered before. The recent election had given them many new grounds for encouragement and they were in a cheerful and cheering mood.

Death List Raised to Sixteen.

Indianapolis, Nov. 22.--Fred W. Hutcheson, twenty-six years old, of Madison, Ky., freight engine fireman, seriously injured in the C. H. & D. wreck in Irvington, is dead at the Deaconess hospital. Hutcheson's death brings the total number of victims to sixteen. Fifteen were either killed or died at the hospital the day of the wreck.

Auto Overturned on Curve.

Hazleton, Ind., Nov. 22.--James R. Murphy, aged thirty-eight and unmarried, a millionaire oil operator of Philadelphia and Vincennes, was killed in an automobile accident near here. Mr. Murphy was one of a party of four oil men going from Mt. Carmel, Ill., to Vincennes. The car skidded on a sharp curve and turned over.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Cablegrams from China announce that the republic is preparing to go to war with Russia for the possession of Mongolia.

Andre Frey, the well-known French aviator, was killed at Rheims. While flying his aeroplane collapsed and he fell 450 feet.

The Carnegie foundation intends to grant a pension of $25,000 a year to ex-presidents of the United States and their unmarried widows.

The German government, it is said, intends to create a monopoly in the tobacco trade on the same lines as its monopoly in the petroleum industry.

Rebels in Mexico raided an American-owned hotel at Maguey, sixty miles west of Durango, and all the buildings on the property were burned to the ground.

Archduke Francis Ferdinand, the heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, has gone to Berlin to hold a conference with the German emperor, presumably regarding the Balkan war.

Stanton J. Peele, chief justice of the United States court of claims, will soon retire from that bench and Henry Sherman Boutell of Chicago, former member of the house of representatives and now minister to Switzerland, will succeed him.

Oscar King Davis, former Washington correspondent, who was identified with Colonel Roosevelt's campaign, will have charge of the new permanent headquarters of the Progressive party to be opened in Washington about the first of the year.

RESUMES STORY OF DYNAMITING

Orlie McManigal Takes Up Thread of Narrative.

Self-Confessed Dynamiter Tells Jury in Federal Court How, Acting Under Instructions From Iron Workers' Headquarters, He Went to the Coast and Pulled Off Llewellyn Plant "Job" as Christmas Gift to "Old Man."

Indianapolis, Nov. 22.--When he resumed his place on the witness stand it was an interesting story that Orlie E. McManigal told to the jury in the dynamiting case. When on the stand last week he detailed circumstances attending his hunting trip in the woods of Wisconsin, and it was there that he picked up the thread of his story. Just before the hunting party started to leave for home witness said they were shooting at an old dishpan as a target. Turning to McManigal, J. B. McNamara handed him the dishpan and asked him to hold it at arm's length while he (McNamara) took a shot at it. "You go to hell," said McManigal. "I know what you want," he said. He did not propose to place himself in a position where he might be "accidentally" shot. They broke camp Dec. 2, said McManigal, but J. B. and the witness did not go back to Chicago together.

Witness further testified that on Dec. 11, 1910, J. J. McNamara wanted witness to go out to the coast and blow up the Times auxiliary building, the Baker iron works and the Llewellyn iron works. Witness told him they were too hot out there and he did not think it wise to go. He finally consented to go and J. B. and witness went to the cache at Beech Grove, east of Indianapolis, and got twelve quarts of nitroglycerine and brought it in with them. McNamara paid witness $200 in advance and told him not to see anybody while he was in Los Angeles.

The witness returned to Chicago and left that city for Los Angeles on the night of Dec. 13, 1910. He found men day and night at work on the Times auxiliary building and the Baker iron works was heavily guarded. He concluded that there was too much risk, both at the Baker plant and at the Times auxiliary, and he then visited the Llewellyn plant. There he arranged four quarts of the explosive in the shipping room and attached the batteries so as to cause the explosion at 2 o'clock on the morning of Dec. 25, that "it would be a Christmas present for the old man" (Tveitmoel).

He then took a train for San Francisco and the next day went around to see Eugene Clancy and inquired for Tveitmoel. He then produced a paper with an account of the Llewellyn explosion and remarked as he pointed to it: "I see there was something doing last night. When you see Tveitmoel you tell him that the man who was to bring him the Christmas gift was here and that he is safe and on his way back east."

The witness testified that on Jan. 13 he received a telegram from J. J. McNamara asking him to come to this city at once. Witness did so and he and J. B. went to headquarters and found J. J. in a very bad humor because the Times auxiliary building and the Baker iron works jobs had not been pulled off.

SENT TO PRISON

Crown Point, Ind., Nov. 22.--Harry Moose, former city clerk of Gary, who confessed perjury recently, was sentenced to state's prison in the Lake county circuit court. His sentence was made indeterminate for a period of six months to five years.

Moose told Judge Mahon that he made his confession because of a troubled conscience. Moose was the principal witness against Mayor T. E. Knotts and five accused aldermen in the bribery cases in which Thomas R. Dean, the prosecuting witness, sprang dictograph conversations on the accused men, whom, he declared, he bribed to pass a public utility ordinance. Moose was city clerk at that time.

Woman Demands Damages.

Indianapolis, Nov. 22.--Suit for $10,000 damages for personal injuries has been brought in superior court by Alma Hartsock against the city of Indianapolis and the contractors who erected the grandstand for the Marshall notification meeting Aug. 20. The plaintiff alleges that she was seriously injured when the grandstand collapsed. This is the second suit resulting from the accident, in which more than a score of persons were injured.

Birth Rate Declining.

Indianapolis, Nov. 22.--There were more than 200 fewer babies born in Indiana during October than in September, according to figures made public by the state board of health. The births in October were 4,313, of which 2,211 were boys and 2,102 were girls. In September 4,517 babies were born, and the rate was 20.1 to each one thousand population. Last month the rate averaged 20.2.

YOUNG WIFE IS FOUND INSANE

Judge Sends Mrs. S. J. Winchester, Who Was Here With Husband,
to Asylum.

"REVEREND" ASKED INQUIRY

His Son, Founder of "Society" is Still Under Arrest—Experience
in Connersville.

Mrs. Edna Hubbard Winchester, fourth wife of "Rev." Winchester, of the anti-white slave traffic association, was declared to be of unsound mind by a jury in Judge Tracy's division of the Kenton Circuit Court, at Covington, Ky., yesterday. The examination as to her mental condition was the result of a request to Humane Officer Al Cherrington by "Rev." Winchester to have an investigation of his present domestic difficulties. The young woman was ordered taken to Lakeland Asylum.

Although "Colonel" S. Winchester, of Cincinnati, demanded an immediate trial at Terre Haute on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses the judge of the City Court, postponed the case of the man who represented himself as head of the "American and International Association for the Prevention of the White Slave Traffic."

Meanwhile the police are investigating Winchester's operations in Terre Haute. Several manufacturing and business concerns reported they had contributed. They said the "Colonel" presented a list of Terre Haute firms which he represented as contributors. The police obtained this list and say they found that the persons indicated had not paid money to the "cause."

"Colonel" Winchester is the son of the "Rev." S. J. Winchester who was here last summer conducting a tent meeting, and who aroused considerable resentment among neighbors because of his cruel treatment of his wife.

Connersville interest in the difficulties which have overtaken this man is peculiarly strong for he spent some time in Connersville last spring, conducting alleged religious meetings in a tent, like he did here.

"Rev." Winchester's stay in Connersville was not entirely pleasant. Three successive nights according to his statements, thieves crept into his tent and stole parts of his wardrobe. The last visit left the evangelist destitute of trousers, in which plight he sat in his tent half the forenoon following before he summoned the necessary courage to call some passer-by to his aid.

ministry. But each time his wife has found him out and on more than one occasion has caused him to lose good charges by the stories she is said to have circulated among the members of his new-found congregations. One of these charges was in Missouri and at the time Mr. Hawthorne had to leave it was getting a salary of $1,000.

For some time Mrs. Hawthorne and the two children have been making their home in Howard county, and according to statements made here by Mr. Hawthorne, his wife had told him several months ago that he might go his way and she would trouble him no more.

It was this alleged arrangement that brought Mr. Hawthorne among his former friends again, and he had been in the Gwynneville community for several weeks.

century. China is trying to bestir herself, and the sweet voice of Jesus is the cause.

"Only one element of all these has wrought the difference between these two blood countries. That is because Christ was preached to the English in England, and accepted and just now the word is being preached to the people of India, granting even the difference in the climate.

"How can we, then, believe that Christianity is the result of our civilization and that our civilization is not the result of Christianity, when history stands in the way?"

The Rev. Mr. Yocum told of men who had maintained that Christianity was merely the result of the civilization of this age, and not contrary, and who had been pushed to prove their assertions. He recited a story from history of two different men who attempted to uphold such declarations by introducing modern methods of living without the aid of Christianity, where it had never been taught. In each case, he said, the men were compelled to admit that they were in the wrong that a people could not be raised to a higher plane of living without first having been converted to Christianity because they had no desire for better things.

"All that we are," exclaimed the Rev. Mr. Yocum, "as a nation today we owe to Christ and those missionaries, who, in 596, found their way over into England and preached the word of God to our forefathers. 'If we expect to continue to improve, we must cling to Him. We must carry the Gospel to the negroes and the mountaineers of the south and to the people of the west, and rid ourselves of the running sore, the Mormon menace.'"

In beautiful language, the minister recited the story of a preacher who once had a dream on a bright Christmas morning. He dreamed that he was in a land without Christ. His dream covered many instances in which it was shown how much Christianity had been for the world, and how the world would be without it.

"Ah! The Debt of America to Christ!" exclaimed the Christian pastor, "We can repay it only by blotting out these sins of which we have heard this week and put into the hands of our home mission societies ample funds to reach the heart of every person out of Christ."
